JURORS TO QUIZ CIVILIANS FIRST ABOUT BEATING

First Precinct Officers May Not Be Called to Appear Today.

PROBERS MAY TELL OF FINDINGS FRIDAY

Five Cases to Be Presented as Fifth Policeman Is Linked in Inquiry.

Department of Justice operatives and forty witnesses in five police brutality cases will go before a District Grand Jury today with evidence collected in ten days of intensive inquiry, following The Post's expose of third degree methods here.

Civilians alone will constitute the first group of witnesses questioned by District Attorney Leo A. Rover, it appeared last night, when Superintendent of Police Henry G. Pratt notified First Precinct officers they will not be called today.

"Captains, lieutenants and privates," his order read, "who have been summoned to appear before the grand jury tomorrow, September 2, will not appear, but will hold themselves in readiness to report when called."

Only police of the First Precinct admitted receiving such an order, although officers at all fourteen stations were questioned.

Lieut. Frank Varney, in command last night of the Third precinct, was evasive when asked if Third precinct officers received the same order.

"It will be a nice day tomorrow," said Lieut. Varney.

Maj. Pratt earlier in the day gave a similar reply to reporters who pressed him closely.

"It's getting hotter," said Maj. Pratt. "I mean the weather, of course."

First Precinct Policemen.

First Precinct policemen will figure in at least four of the five brutality cases presented before the grand jury, it was learned last night on good authority.

The four cases involve four policemen suspended from duty after James Henry Harker told a story of third-degree beatings at the hands of police to a Post reporter ten days ago.

The fifth involves another policeman, not hitherto mentioned in connection with charges that police beat prisoners in extorting confessions, one that, unlike his four colleagues, has not been suspended from duty. Police officials themselves have not been advised of the identity of the fifth officer, it was said.

It was stated in a reliable quarter that none of the cases to be heard when the jury convenes at 10 o'clock this morning, outside of the Harker case, has been in the public eye.

Harker, whose alleged savage whipping at the hands of First Precinct policemen will be the first of the five cases aired today, appeared early yesterday at the office of his attorney, S. McComas Hawken.

Excused Until Today.

His subpena called for appearance yesterday before the grand jury. Together Mr. Hawken and his client went to the district attorney's office, where he was excused and told to report before the jury this morning at 10 o'clock.

Navy to Take Turn At Bombing Ship

(Associated Press.)

The Navy had many a quiet laugh at the expense of Army fliers who tried unsuccessfully to sink the old freighter Mount Shasta off the Virginia capes. So, the Army learned with considerable satisfaction yesterday that the Navy's aviators are to try their skill at a similar operation.

The veteran cruiser Pittsburgh, now at the end of its career, is to be anchored in Chesapeake Bay late this month. Naval aviators will attack it with nonexplosive bombs.

In making this announcement yesterday, the Navy said no test of accuracy or hitting would be involved; that the maneuvers were intended only to test the deck penetrating efficiency of certain types of bombs. However, Army aviators winked, and there were some sly comments to the effect that the naval fliers would have to hit the Pittsburgh before the deck penetration data could be obtained.

40 New York Doctors Indicted in Rum Scandal

New York, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Forty doctors, two druggists and two drug clerks were indicted by the Federal grand jury in Brooklyn today as result of investigation by Department of Justice agents into illegal sale of liquor by druggists and of liquor prescriptions by doctors.

Federal Judge William B. Sheppard, in receiving the indictments, commended the grand jury. "If other juries would do their duty in the same manner," he said, "there would be no need for meetings at Madison Square Garden to consider means for getting rid of gangsters. The law would take care of the gangsters."

PREFERENTIAL DUTY ATTACKED IN GENEVA

Geneva, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—A strong attack on proposals for preferential tariff rates, sought by central and southern European nations, was made today by Maxim Litvinoff, Russian commissar for foreign affairs, before the economic coordinating committee of the European commission.

"Preferential duties," the Soviet minister said, "are an out-and-out form of economic warfare, with Russia as the intended victim."

Despite the Russian protest, which appeared to have the support of the English spokesman, the committee voted approval of the preferential agreements recently concluded between Germany and Roumania and between Germany and Hungary.

After heated debate the committee refused, however, to take a position on the desirability of tariff preferences in general. Its report, which members hope will be ready for adoption tomorrow night, will be presented to the European commission Thursday as a program recommended for remedying Europe's economic dislocation.

So urgent and predominant is the question of Europe's economic situation that the council of the League of Nations, after a brief but useful initial session this morning, adjourned until Friday.

This left the field clear for the coordinating committee which, meeting privately, continued through the afternoon and into the evening its efforts to reach agreements upon measures for the improvement of industry, commerce and finance.

Before the league council sits again it is believed The Hague Court's verdict on the Austro-German Customs Union will be made public in Geneva.

Europe's grain growing nations for more than a year have been pushing a proposal for agricultural preferences by which their products would get a favored position in Europe's grain markets.

The most active opponents of this project have been overseas grain growers, especially Canada and Australia, which wish to continue to enjoy equality of treatment in continental markets.

At the beginning of the debate today Andre Francois-Poncet, French spokesman, made it known that France is now negotiating with both Hungary and Jugoslavia for commercial treaties embodying the preferential principle. This provision was included in the Germano-Roumanian and Germano-Hungarian treaties recently announced.

Tewfik Rushdi Bey made clear to the committee that Turkey could not agree to preferential treatment. M. Litvinoff joined emphatically with his Turkish colleague in the opposition. The meeting was private but the Russian minister's remarks were made available to the press by the Soviet delegation.

CENTRAL ENDS GAS COMPANY MANAGEMENT

Peirce Corporation Also Offers Pipeline Title to Local Concern.

ACTION CALLED MOVE TO DODGE LEGAL STEP

Second Request Is Made for Rescinding of Ban on Transfer of Funds.

Officials of the Washington Gas Light Co. and a legal representative of Albert E. Peirce, president of the Central Public Service Corporation, of Chicago, late yesterday informed the Public Utilities Commission that the Central Public Service Corporation has relinquished the management of the local gas concerns.

This verbal report was given in connection with a lengthy and technical communication which asked the utilities body to rescind its recent order preventing the Washington Gas Light Co. from transferring any money to the Central Public Service Corporation or any of its subsidiaries.

Accompanying this request was a proposal of the Central Public Service Corporation to give the Washington Gas Light Co. full title to the transmission line recently constructed to obtain natural gas from the Columbia Gas & Electric Co. and thus to eliminate a service fee heretofore charged by the Public Service Engineering Corporation as well as the original proposed charge of $68,500 for negotiating the natural gas contract.

Consumers Save $130,000.

As a consequence of this relinquishment of management, following the recent disclosures by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, of proposed payments by the local firms, gas consumers will be saved approximately $130,000 already assembled to be turned over to the gas company's new owners.

This voluntary step taken yesterday is seen as an effort of the Central Public Service Corporation to escape prosecution in the proposed La Follette antimerger suit of the Public Utilities Commission. District officials believe, however, that the withdrawal comes too late.

Moreover, there are still undecided the questions of whether the anti-merger law is constitutional, and, if so, whether it has been violated by the sale of 84 per cent of stock of the Washington gas companies to Mr. Peirce and the Central Public Service Corporation.

Yesterday was the second time that gas company officials had asked that the ban on fund transfers to the Chicago utility be rescinded. About ten days ago Mr. Peirce himself, flanked by attorneys, made a similar request. But his application was not accompanied by the agreement presented yesterday.

Decision Expected Today.

The commission will make a decision as to its course of action today.

3 Bandits Loot Bank, Locking Trio in Vault

Logansport, La., Sept. 1 (U.P.).—Three bandits who robbed the Pelican State Bank at Pelican of $2,377 and locked three persons in the vault tonight were believed to have escaped across the Sabine River into east Texas.

Gronau Ends Flight, Germany to Chicago

Finishes First Scientific Trip of Kind; Declares Route Unfeasible.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Capt. Wolfgang Gronau, German transatlantic flier, completed the first scientific flight between Germany and Chicago over the northern circle route tonight.

Von Gronau brought his huge twin-motored flying boat, the Groenland Wal, down on the surface of Lake Michigan, off the Loop, at 6:10 p. m., Chicago daylight time, 6 hours 10 minutes after he took off on the last lap of the pathfinding cruise, from Long Lake, Ontario.

Only a few hundred aviation enthusiasts and civic leaders witnessed the conclusion of the flight. News of the take-off reached Chicago late and this probably held down the crowd.

The Groenland Wal was towed into custom collector's docks, to be put through the routine examination, after which Von Gronau and his crew, Copilot E. Zimmer, radio operator of the Albrecht, and Mechanic F. Hack, were whisked away to a hotel, where a formal reception awaited them.

"The flight was a great success," Capt. Von Gronau said after mooring the plane.

AUSTRIAN-GERMANIC TRADE PACT SHELVED

Customs Plan Is Dropped to Permit Development of Broader Scheme.

Geneva, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—Germany and Austria have agreed to shelve their project for a customs union, it was learned today. The agreement probably will be announced before publication of The Hague Court's decision on legality of the agreement, which has been postponed until Saturday.

Although abandonment of the customs union, which aroused wide opposition in other European countries, had been freely forecast, it caused much speculation among delegates to the League of Nations council, which convened under chairmanship of Alejandro Lerroux, Spanish foreign minister, to consider economic questions.

It was believed that Foreign Minister Julius Curtius of Germany and Foreign Minister Johann Schober of Austria, would announce the status of the customs union plan when the report of the economic subcommittee is delivered to the European Union Commission's committee on coordination. The announcement probably will say the plan has been "temporarily renounced," in view of the fact that the subcommittee report advocates ultimate transformation of Europe into a single market.

The report approves customs unions providing "they take account of the situation of countries unprepared to participate."

The German and Austrian ministers

Chciago Coupon Manager Charged With Losing Money Speculating.

Chicago, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—Officials of the billion-dollar Continental-Illinois Bank & Trust Co. announced tonight that one of its trusted employes had admitted embezzling more than $1,500,000, the largest bank defalcation ever reported here.

The accused man, Walter Wolf, 42, an employe for more than twenty years, and until last week manager of the bank's coupon department, lost the money in stock and grain margin trading, the bank said. He was reported in custody of private detectives, and will be turned over to authorities tomorrow.

Agents of Lloyd's, London insurance company, with which the bank is fully covered for all loss, were said to have estimated the embezzlement at $3,000,000 after a preliminary check. Some of this will be recovered from stock brokers, however, it was said.

5 GOVERNORS PRAISE HOOVER RELIEF PLAN

(Associated Press.)

Letters from five State governors commending President Hoover's plan for unemployment relief through Federal cooperation with local communities were made public last night by the Chief Executive.

Meanwhile, Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, announced the appointment of Owen D. Young as head of a committee of prominent citizens to mobilize relief resources through local funds.

The administration also was shaping its fiscal policy to provide as much relief as possible through Federal construction.

The five governors who indorsed the President's plan were Brucker of Michigan, Cross of Connecticut, Emmerson of Illinois, Parnell of Arkansas, and Conley of West Virginia.

Previously, Govs. Rolph of California, Gardiner of Maine and Winant of New Hampshire had extended their commendation. Brucker and Cross expressed confidence their States could take care of their own relief problems.

All five pledged their cooperation and expressed the view that the problem was one for local communities to face.

Other developments yesterday in the rapidly changing unemployment situation were:

Wickersham Firm Rum Case Counsel

Baltimore, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The law firm in New York of which George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission is a member, today filed appearance papers here as defense counsel for one of the sixteen corporations recently indicted with 36 defendants for conspiracy to convert paint solvents and similar products into beverage alcohol.

The law firm said it would appear for the Syrup Products Co., Inc., a manufacturer of syrups and alcohol. The offices of the company are in Wall street, New York.

Three indictments were returned by the grand jury here which deliberated from May 4 to July 20 and heard 150 witnesses. The alleged conspiracy has been described by Federal officials as the largest of its kind ever investigated by the Government.

ILLS OF MEXICO LAID TO TARIFF BY ORTIZ RUBIO

Levies Cut Receipts, but He Announces Policy of High Protection.

SITUATION IS TENSE AS CONGRESS OPENS

Mexico City, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—President Pascual Ortiz Rubio, in an address at the opening of the regular session of Congress tonight, committed his administration to a "frankly and highly protectionist" tariff policy.

The president addressed a tense session, due to a shooting affray in the chamber last week. All persons except members of Congress, diplomats and high officials were searched for arms when they arrived at the chamber.

The president said the administration's tariff policy must be accompanied by other measures designed to intensify national industrial production.

Blames U. S. Duty.

He declared the present United States tariff was partly responsible for reduction of Mexican exports, and added that the increase so far made in Mexican duties had served to increase the government's financial difficulties by decreasing customs receipts.

The Bank of Mexico will exercise the privilege of issuing paper money, he said, as the monetary law authorized such action only if absolutely necessary. He said the Lamont agreement on foreign debts, which was one of the chief reasons for the special session of Congress just ended, but which was not acted upon, would be submitted to the present session.

Four Deputies Resign.

Simultaneous with the opening of Congress, it was announced that four Chihuahua deputies had resigned from the revolutionary (government) party, charging that Gov. Ortiz of Chihuahua, was usurping the party's functions.

A heavy guard was posted around the government building when President Ortiz Rubio arrived. It had been proposed that the joint session of the two houses be held in the National Stadium, but the plan was abandoned because of tension arising from the recent revolver battle in which Deputy Manuel Ruiz was killed and two others wounded. No automobiles except those carrying special passes were permitted to approach the chamber, which is near the center of the business district.

15,000 Filipinos March For Secretary of War

Manila, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—A parade of 15,000 Filipinos today to impress Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley with their desire for an independent government was almost disorganized by struggles of the demonstrants to hear the speech he was to have made.

Although Secretary Hurley had been repeatedly designated by the Manila press as an enemy to Philippine independence, he was greeted with enthusiastic cheers by the paraders and the 75,000 spectators. His appearance caused such a rush to be near him that he called off the speech and retired to Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis' residence to permit the parade to continue.

CHAPMAN WINS PLEA TO HOLD U. S. LINES

(Associated Press.)

Negotiation of a contract with the Chapman-Dollar-Dawson interests whereby they would take over the United States lines was ordered yesterday by the Shipping Board.

The board at the same time specified that the contract must come before it again for final approval.

Chairman T. V. O'Connor indicated this would be merely for ratification of terms on which the board and the Chapman interests are in virtual agreement and that yesterday's action means elimination of the rival bidder, the International Mercantile Marine Steamship Co., from the board's consideration.

O'Connor said that in working out the details, the board hopes to get a better price than the $3,170,900 offered by the Chapman-Dollar-Dawson combine originally for outstanding mortgages held by the board.

Members said transfer of the lines to Chapman and his West Coast backers would be a reorganization rather than a sale. The new group consists of Paul W. Chapman, president of the U. S. Lines, and R. Stanley Dollar, of San Francisco, and Kenneth D. Dawson, of Portland, Oreg., whose backing he acquired after financial difficulty had forced him to appeal to the board for aid.

Officials said the Chapman group would be required to guarantee operation of the Leviathan on a minimum of seven sailing a year rather than five, which their previous offer had specified.

The prize for which the giants of American shipping have been struggling consists of 10 ships. The passenger vessels are the Leviathan, the President Harding and President Roosevelt.

When purchased from the Government by Chapman in 1929, the lines consisted of six passenger vessels and five cargo-passenger ships constituting the American Merchant Lines, all operating in the North Atlantic. Three of the passenger vessels are no longer involved. The board took back the George Washington and America, while the Republic was recently traded to the War Department for two cargo-passenger craft.

The board, admitting that the price offered by Chapman in 1929 and accepted was too high, is prepared to cancel mortgages aggregating about $8,000,000 for a sum slightly in excess of $3,000,000.

HOOVER DEFERS FINAL ADOPTION OF FISCAL PLAN

Congress' Program Not to Be Drawn for a Few Months.

CHANGE IN TAXATION STRUCTURE IS LIKELY

Economic Condition Abroad Deemed Responsible for Domestic Problems.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

President Hoover has decided to defer for a few months the task of drafting a financial program for submission to Congress in December. Highly complicated economic conditions in this country and abroad are responsible for the President's decision.

The Executive is hopeful that there will be an improvement in business conditions, and that, as a consequence, there will be an appreciable increase in tax receipts.

However, he is leaving the door open for whatever kind of financial program may seem necessary at the time that Congress convenes.

In view of the fact that 1932 is a presidential election year, neither of the big parties is inclined to recommend a general increase in taxes.

In the event that no general tax increase is recommended, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will continue to balance the budget by means of public loans.

Changed Tax Alignment.

It is believed that President Hoover may propose some realignment of the tax structure so that it will afford a more reliable medium for raising revenue, regardless of eras of prosperity or depression.

In any event, the administration stood pledged yesterday to fulfill this winter what might be called the social obligations of the Government. None of the victims of unemployment will be permitted to starve if the Federal agencies can prevent their starving, it was said.

This does not mean that the President has weakened in his opposition to a Federal "dole." He is convinced that the victims of unemployment can better be taken care of through voluntary contributions, gathered by State, county and municipal organizations.

Nevertheless, neither President Hoover nor Walter S. Gifford, his unemployment relief leader, has definitely closed the door to direct Federal relief.

States Give Support.

State governors continue to rally to the support of the Hoover program of relief through local agencies rather than through the Federal Treasury. The governors have been assuring the President of their support ever since Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania asked the President in an open letter—as yet unanswered—to call a special session of Congress for the purpose of drafting relief legislation.

Yesterday the White House gave

German Dirigible Landed in Brazil

Graf Covers 5,000 Miles Within 20 Minutes of Schedule.

Pernambuco, Brazil, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin landed here tonight at 6:10 p. m. (4:10 p. m Eastern standard time) within twenty minutes of the time estimated by Dr. Hugo Eckener when he started on the flight of approximately 5,000 miles.

The distance was covered in exactly 72 hours, at an average speed of 72 miles an hour, Dr. Eckener said, and he added that the landing was one of the best that the ship has made, complimenting the Pernambuco crew, which was assisted by a company of soldiers, in bringing the ship down on the muddy field.

It had rained hard during the day. The governor and his staff boarded the dirigible shortly after it arrived and welcomed Dr. Eckener, the crew and the thirteen passengers, who were then taken in automobiles to hotels. The Graf is scheduled to leave here Thursday evening for Friedrichshafen, Germany, on the return trip.

Traffic Bureau Shy Blanks; Title-Seekers Turned Away

Negligence Charged by Citizen as Supply Runs Short in Face of Director's Repeated Pleas for Response From Auto Owners.

Although repeated warnings have been given recently by Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer to automobile owners to hurry their applications for titles under the system inaugurated by the new traffic head, it was learned by The Post yesterday that the supply of application blanks had become exhausted, causing needless trips of many motorists to the Traffic Bureau headquarters.

First information on the situation came to The Post in a letter from Arthur L. Manley, 1224 Massachusetts avenue northwest, who said he went to the Traffic Bureau office yesterday morning to secure an application for title. After waiting in a long line for half an hour, Mr. Manley said, he was informed, as were many others, that no application blanks were available.

Mr. Manley, in his letter, a copy of which was also sent to Traffic Director Van Duzer, called attention to the fact that it was estimated at the time of announcement of the new title system that approximately 110,000 cars would be titled. He cited the estimate by Van Duzer recently that only 5,000 motorists had obtained their title blanks as indication of negligence somewhere, inasmuch as the 5,000 applications already obtained constituted a scant percentage of the number of cars to be titled.

At the Traffic Bureau last night no information was forthcoming as to when the supply would be replenished, while a similar situation prevailed at the offices of the American Automobile Association, another main distributing agency for the blanks.

Mr. Van Duzer could not be reached for a statement last night as to the application blank situation and its effect upon the eventual registering of the District's automobiles.

Gen. Butler's Retirement Approved by President

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday approved the application of Smedley D. Butler for retirement from the Marine Corps on October 1, after 33 years of service.

The President's action has been expected, as he announced several days ago that the general probably would be granted his request, with the understanding that his services would be available if the country should need them.

Ruling on Paternity Makes Child 'Million Dollar Baby'

Chicago, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—A stroke of Judge Joseph David's pen made 3-year-old Anna Gross a "million-dollar baby" today, when he decided that the dashing Capt. Christian Channing Gross was her father.

Capt. Gross, diplomat, soldier and international clubman, scion of one of Chicago's oldest families and at present attached to the United States Embassy at Ottawa, Ontario, thereupon gave Anna a share in a $1,000,000 trust fund he had established for his children.

The handsome captain had asked the judge to decide the paternity of the child, born three months after Gross separated in France from his wife, the heiress daughter of Francis B. Harrison, former Governor of the Philippines.

Gross told the judge that Anna had been known variously as Anna Gross and Anna Zayas and that he did not know she had been born until she was 6 months old. In obtaining a divorce he had accused Mrs. Gross of misconduct with Marius de Zayas, a Mexican, described as an artist, antique dealer and classical dancer.

The battle of the Grosses has enlivened court proceedings on two continents for the last six years. Gross met his bride when she was 17 years old, immediately after she had been graduated from a French convent school. They were married after an impetuous romance, had two children and became leaders in international society. Then on a tour of Egypt they met the mysterious De Zayas.

They separated in Paris in 1927. Gross charged De Zayas with breaking up his home. The captain established the $1,000,000 trust fund for his children and then, according to his testimony, learned that Anna had been born. He obtained a divorce from Mrs. Gross. She demanded that Anna be included in the trust. Gross then applied to Judge David for a ruling on the child's paternity.

Police Trace Jazz Melody; Find Kidnapers of Broker

Gang Caught and Part of Ransom Recovered After Victim Identifies Odd Rhythm as That He Heard During 17-Day Confinement.

New York, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—A woman who lured Charles Rosenthal into the hands of a kidnaping band, police said, and the four men who held the young broker prisoner for seventeen days in a dark tenement house apartment were rounded up by authorities today.

The arrests, made here, in Atlantic City and in Newark, came about indirectly because of Rosenthal's ability to recognize the music of an orchestra in a night club near where he had been held for the payment of $50,000 ransom, more than $16,000 of which has been recovered by police.

As he sat night after night in his temporary prison, handcuffed and with glasses covered with adhesive tape over his eyes the music drifted through an open window and he memorized the peculiar rhythm.

After his release when detectives took him on a tour of night clubs, he picked out the one near where he had been held from the music and thus the apartment was located and the gang captured. At the same time detectives frustrated by the capture, they said, a plot of the band to put one of their own number "on the spot" for splitting only $25,000 of the $50,000 with them.

The decoy, a 28-year-old Negro woman, was identified by Rosenthal, who said her extremely light complexion led to the belief she was white. John Markham and Nicholas Green, said to be a hotel proprietor, were arrested here. Then detectives, acting on a tip, went to Newark and battered their way into an expensively furnished apartment, where they arrested John Rocco and Theodore Adnoifi.

From the finger of a glove belonging to Adnoifi and from secret pockets in Rocco's clothes, they recovered $11,300. Later $5,000 more was found, but authorities refused to say where.

At first Rocco and Adnoifi insisted they had won the money in a big gambling game and confessed to the kidnaping only after detectives produced a list of the serial numbers on the bills with which the ransom was paid and pointed out that they agreed with the numbers on the confiscated currency.

Statements made by the prisoners led to the hasty departure of Rosenthal and a police inspector by plane for Atlantic City. There Bettine Green, alias Stewart, a Negro maid, was arrested and identified by Rosenthal as the woman who turned him over to the kidnapers. "Her husband also was questioned, but detectives said apparently he had had no part in the abduction.

The woman waived extradition and

CORPSE HUNT HALTS AT SLAUGHTER FARM

Authorities Turn Attention to Fresh Collection of Powers' Photos.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—New threads to the web that Harry F. Powers laid throughout the country to ensnare the affections of lonely women were revealed today while authorities sought to learn whether any others who corresponded with him met the fate that befell Mrs. Asta Eicher, of Chicago, her three children and Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, of Worcester, Mass.

Another trunk containing 50 photographs of women, a book containing the birth dates of 100 persons and several firearms was found at the Quiet Dell farm where Powers is alleged to have slain Mrs. Eicher, Mrs. Lemke and the children.

The search for more bodies on the farm was abandoned late today, and Sheriff W. B. Grimm announced there would be no more digging pending further investigation of the correspondence Powers carried on with women from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Indiana Clew Found.

The chief of police of Marion, Ind., said he believed Powers was the man who obtained $3,000 from a Marion woman three years ago after saying he would marry her. Mrs. Lemke was believed to have taken more than $4,000 with her when she came to Clarksburg from Worcester.

In the trunk found at Quiet Dell today, there was a photograph of a woman on which was written the name of Mrs Maude L. Johnson, 510 West College street, Fairfield, Ill. There was an unsigned card addressed "To Dearest Harry" and bearing the address of 5518 Vallino street, Oakland, Calif.

These were but a few of the many photographs letters and messages found at Powers' Quiet Dell garage since his arrest last Thursday in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Eicher and her children.

Case to Come in November.

Powers' attorney prepared to defend the man in court as county authorities announced his case would be laid before the grand jury at the regular term of court beginning November 10. The attorney, J. E. Law, appeared at the county jail with a notary public and read an affidavit to the prisoner in which it was stated that a confession of the Eicher killings was obtained from Powers "by threats and oppression."

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—An investigation of the American Friendship Society of Detroit through which Harry F. Powers is alleged to have communicated with the women he murdered was ordered by Gov. Wilmer M. Brucker today. The alleged matrimonial agency is incorporated as a nonprofit corporation in Michigan. The governor instructed Joseph A. Gillis, assistant attorney general, to take whatever action is necessary if the enterprize is illegal.

Cannon Transcript Is Studied by Rover

(Associated Press.)

District Attorney Rover yesterday began studying the record of the Senate campaign funds committee's inquiry into the use of anti-Smith money by Bishop James Cannon, jr., in 1928.

Rover asked for the transcript of last week's hearings. In transmitting this to the district attorney, Chairman Nye, of the Senate committee, volunteered any help Rover might require in his study of the proceedings.

It was said late yesterday that Rover expected to reach no decision before the end of the week. He has to decide whether to institute contempt proceedings against two of Bishop Cannon's associates who refused to testify before the Senate committee and whether to prosecute for any violation of the Federal corrupt practices act.

Miss Ada L. Burroughs, of Richmond, and J. Sidney Peters, of Newport News, Va., treasurer and secretary of the Anti-Smith Democratic Headquarters Committee, respectively, refused to answer any questions of the committee.

Tinkham Is Questioned On Dry Funds Fight

(Associated Press.)

Representative Tinkham was asked yesterday by Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, president of the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League, whether he has sought prosecution of William H. Stayton, of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, for failure to report to Congress a $5,000 gift.

Mrs. Nicholson, addressing the Massachusetts Republican "as a lawmaker and one anxious to see the law enforced—judging from your relentless persecution of Bishop Cannon," inquired whether Tinkham was making "as earnest an effort to bring to justice" Stayton who, she said, testified before the Senate lobby committee that he had failed to report a $5,000 gift, according to the corrupt practices act. Tinkham filed the charges under which the committee has been investigating the disposition of the Cannon fund.

Even Politicians' Cigars Face Chicago Tax Boost

By JOHN J. DALY

AN enterprising assessor in Chicago has located $10,000,000,000—in personal property untaxed.

Billions in bank deposits, stocks and bonds, automobiles, pianos, watches, flocks and herds, pool tables, swivel chairs and miscellany, escaped the tax, through connivance of officials. These will now be sought out, with the idea of doing away with payless pay days.

The hunt, started in desperation, has already yielded $84,000,000 in railroad equipment and $40,000,000 in lake and air craft operating out of Chicago without license.

From now on, the campaign for revenue will be waged in every quarter of the county, including the Loop and the Gold Coast. Aside from appraisals to be made in offices, stores, factories and homes, banks and investment houses will be compelled to surrender financial records of patrons.

* * * *

THIS is going after hidden wealth with a vengeance. The day of political favoritism is over—in Cook County. If old man Modoogle has a watch—whether it keeps time or not—the Board of Assessors wants the watch's pedigree. If Mrs. Hemingway has a wardrobe filled with beach pajamas and an assortment of Empress Eugenie hats, with a yacht waiting for her in the harbor, the admission will cost her the pay of ten firemen for a year.

Young Gadsberry, the wealthy man-about-town, who drives the green roadster with the pretty girl by his side, will be asked to step into the city hall and pay taxes on his extra tires.

Some day, when Mr. Doolittle and his friends are shooting pool, down in the basement billiard room, the revenue agents will come in and take the cues away.

WHILE Rosita Rosendale, the gifted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rosendale, is practicing piano, the sheriff of Cook County will swoop down on the drawing room and confiscate the music box unless Mr. Rosendale comes across with tax money.

Anything can happen.

Even Jabez Moneypacker, president of the biggest bank in town, sitting one day in his office, is liable to have his swivel chair pulled from under him.

A man riding in his limousine won't have any more chance in traffic than a jack rabbit. Cook County is out after the tax dodgers.

The day of reckoning has come—so that even the cooks who hide away T-bone steaks for their boy friends on the police force can not get away with it any longer. If they feed the police they must also help pay the back salaries.

A tax is to be levied on luxuries—broccoli, terrapin, pate de fois gras and caviar.

* * * *

INDIFFERENCE of public officials brought about the tax famine in Cook County. A good cigar, passed to an assessor, a friendly smile, a wink, a knowing nod, and the city and county lost a taxpayer.

All will be different. The county intends to increase taxes even on cigars given to and by politicians.

It seems that a million families and business establishments are listed in Cook County, including Chicago. Less than one-fourth of these had assessments against personal property. Of this number, only 2 per cent paid.

Payless pay days are on the way out. The delinquent and other taxpayers will pay the county and city. In turn, the public servants, including the janitor at City Hall, will receive envelops long overdue.

There is gold out on that coast, if they'll only look for it—in Chicago.

2 MORE GOVERNORS ACT ON COTTON AID

(Associated Press.)

Governors of two additional cotton-growing States moved yesterday toward the relief of the distressed cotton farmer, while a farm group in another urged their chief executive to call a special session of the Legislature to consider the Louisiana "no cotton plan."

In Oklahoma City Gov. Murray announced he would initiate a proposed law, giving the governor and a board of control power to reduce cotton and wheat acreage in Oklahoma next year and in any succeeding year the board thinks necessary.

Gov. Murray's plan is similar to the proposal of Gov. Huey Long of Louisiana in that it would become effective only when a majority of other cotton or wheat producing States agreed to similar action.

Gov. Russell of Georgia telegraphed members of the State Legislature in a canvass of setniment toward the call of a special session to consider Louisiana's plan to ban under penalty the growing of cotton in 1932.

Several hundred telegrams have been received at Gov. Russell's office, urging him to call the special session, and the executive, in his telegram yesterday, asked whether the legislators thought an extra session was advisable with or without the cooperation of the State of Texas.

Gov. Long of Louisiana telegraphed Gov. Sterling of Texas where one-third of the American cotton crop is produced, urging speedy action by the Texas Legislature to prohibit the planting of cotton next year.

"If you do not act at once," Long's message said, "any action that you take will be of no avail."

"In Alabama a group of farm leaders urged Gov. Miller to call the legislature in session to pass a law against planting cotton in 1932. They also asked him to telegraph Gov. Sterling of Texas asking him to use his influence toward the adoption of the Louisiana plan by the Texas Legislature."

The governor refused to send the message and declined to comment on whether he favored prohibitory cotton legislation.

Minister Sidarouss of the Egyptian Legation called on Carl Williams yesterday at the Farm Board and discussed Egypt's recent suggestion to the United States and other cotton-growing countries that an international conference on cotton be held.

The Commerce Department was advised by cable today that flour ordered before August 28 would be exempt from Brazil's 18-month embargo on importations of the wheat product.

Commercial Attache Carlton Jackson at Rio de Janeiro said the Brazilian minister of finance had given verbal assurance that flour proved to have been ordered before August 28 would be permitted entry.

The embargo was decreed Friday at the same time that the exchange of Brazilian coffee for American wheat was approved.

Embargo on Wheat Flour Is Declared by Brazil

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Suspension of wheat flour imports into Brazil for eighteen months is expected by experts to mean that Brazil will refrain from buying nearly 200,000 tons of wheat flour from the United States and Argentina during that period.

The eighteen-month prohibition of wheat flour importation is an amendment to the decree authorizing the exchange of coffee for United States wheat. In addition to relieving Brazil of the necessity of sending abroad to buy flour, the suspension of importation is expected to increase wheat acreage in Brazil.

DOAK AND BABCOCK IN REPLY TO JONES

Service Will Benefit, Labor Secretary Says; Veteran Praises Alpine.

(Associated Press.)

The attack on the Federal Employment Service by Francis I. Jones in a letter resigning as its director general drew replies yesterday from two quarters.

Secretary Doak said the service would benefit by Jones' departure and E. C. Babcock, National Commander of the Disabled American Veterans defended the organization's activities toward finding jobs for former service men.

"The resignation of Mr. Jones was demanded for the good of the service," the Secretary of Labor said. "The service will benefit by his departure."

Mr. Jones, in resigning, said the present organization of the service is "unsatisfactory and bitterly disappointing." He charged Doak with having attempted to "abolish" the Veterans Specialized Employment Service.

Commander Babcock said the office had cooperated heartily with the disabled veterans' organization in finding employment for "65,000 unemployed but employable veterans whose disabilities resulted from war service."

"This outfit," Babcock said in a letter to Doak, "received the assistance of your department in formulating this program not from Mr. Jones, who was lukewarm to it, but from Mr. John R. Alpine."

Alpine is supervising director of the service. It was known for some time before Jones' resignation that he and Alpine were not in complete agreement on methods of managing the service.

Daughter of Minister Sentenced in Slaying

Columbus, Ga., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Miss Mary Cone, 22, daughter of a Baptist minister, was convicted here today of voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of her fiance, Prescott Dudley, and was sentenced to serve from one to three years in prison.

She smiled as the jury returned the verdict and walked from the court room laughing after her attorneys announced an appeal would be taken. Her bond was fixed at $5,000 pending action on the appeal. Dudley was shot with his own pistol as he and the girl were automobile riding early one morning several months ago.

CONDITIONS WORSE IN LATIN COUNTRIES

(Associated Press.)

Few economical gains "of any kind" were found by the Commerce Department in Latin America during August.

On the contrary, the department said, conditions revealed in some instances further recessions. The Argentine peso declined to a new low level, which the department attributed chiefly to lack of confidence. It was added, however, that the visible trade balance there continued favorable with the volume of exports heavy and the imports greatly restricted.

The import situation in Brazil was said to be "even less satisfactory than before."

"Financial uncertainty has hampered Uruguay," the report showed, "reducing the volume of trade and causing increases in unemployment. The depression in Peru has been intensified by the heavy decline in cotton prices. A further tendency toward retrenchment is apparent in Ecuador. The trend of business is still downward in Colombia.

"Dullness remains general in Central America, although there has been some improvement in Honduras and Guatemala. The stagnation of business in Mexico is unrelieved. Revolutionary conditions in Cuba entailed further restrictions in business activity. The seasonal dullness in Porto Rico is somewhat accentuated this year, the delay in marketing the tobacco crop being added to other retarding influences."

Chilean Sailors Resist Wage Cut With Revolt

Valparaiso, Chile, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Crews aboard vessels in the battle fleet at Coquimbo winter quarters revolted today and forced their officers to sign a virtual ultimatum to the government that the navy will not permit proposed reductions in salaries.

As soon as the demand had been signed by the officers the crews returned to their posts and the revolt was over. Officers who had been held prisoners were released.

The brief revolt was quickly and quietly accomplished and apparently had been well planned.

Porto Rican Farmers' Bank Row Is Adjusted

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—Three officials of the Federal Land Bank, of Baltimore, said here today that differences between Porto Rican farmers and the bank have been adjusted and causes of misunderstanding removed. The officials came here in response to protests of Gov. Roosevelt and various farm organizations.

Visit to U. S. Is Discouraged.

Bogota, Colombia, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—Newspapers here today were unanimous in expressing the opinion that a visit by President Enrique Olaya Herrera to the United States would be impractical at this time. Possibility of such a visit in the near future has been reported.

U. S. Consulate at Iquique Closed.

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The American Government has closed its consulate at Iquique, which for many years was the chief port for nitrate exports. Recently the center of production has been shifted to near Tocopilla, resulting in a lack of foreign business at Iquique.

Mexican Shake-up Planned.

Mexico City, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—President Ortiz Rubio announced today he would completely reorganize the government in the near future as a means of eliminating expenses and to operate the administration on a basis of reduced income.

Salvador's Bonds Defended.

San Salvador, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—There is no reasonable cause for the decline in Salvadorean "A" bonds, Finance Minister Espinosa said today. Interest had been paid for this year, the country is at peace, and the national budget is balanced, he said.

Pottawatomies Vote to Retain Firm of Washington Attorneys to Fight for Money Alleged Due Because of Ouster From Chicago Area.

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Chicago's Gold Coast, happy land of many dollars, glittered as the prize today as several hundred citizen Pottawatomie Indians began, in the businesslike way they've learned, to seek modern money for the tranquil lake shores their fathers loved and lost.

Through their business council, the Indians voted to retain a firm of Washington attorneys to claim indemnity from the Government for lands along the Chicago shore and between the North and South Canadian Rivers in Pottawatomie and Cleveland Counties, Okla., now owned by the white man.

At the meeting in the little Indian agency here, blankets, war paint and stomp dances were as much a thing of the past as the tepees of that long ago Lake Michigan northland. The Indians put tribal ceremonies aside.

The Pottawatomies recognized what a long struggle it will be to gain their end, for they awarded the attorneys, Davies, Jones, Beebe and Busick, a five-year contract, gave them five years to start suit and a 10 per cent fee up to a maximum of $25,000. Congress first must authorize suit in the United States Court of Claims.

Their fathers, migrating to Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana from Manitoba, were ousted, the modern Indians claim, between 1836 and 1841.

Councilman Andrew Johnson explained lands were given up to the whites willingly except for a tract, now along the Chicago Lake Shore and including Lincoln Park and the Gold Coast which they reserved as a fishing and hunting reservation. He said some of the original rocks in the reservation were now in Lincoln Park.

Although they intend to try for appropriation equivalent to the present-day value of the Lake Shore land, the Indians say the Government has paid off in previous instances at the rate of $1.25 an acre. The basis of the Oklahoma land claim is a treaty the Indians claim was violated.

22 Grand Jurors Ready To Sift Beating Cases

The following 22 grand jurors, under Foreman Charles B. Fonda, 740 Ninth street northwest, will sit today on five cases of alleged police brutality prepared by Department of Justice operatives following an expose in The Post ten days ago:

Thomas C. Rich, secretary, 703 Shepherd street northwest; Lofton R. Robertson, clerk, 1812 Varnum street northwest; Randolph M. Scott, 608 F street southwest; Mollie B. Long, 2800 Ontario road northwest; Thomas B. Robb, 434 Sixth street northeast; Charles Lewis, 815 Jefferson street northwest; Evelyn Cromelin, 3426 Sixteenth street northwest; Paul C. Raeburn, 602 Sheridan street northwest; James R. Shade, 2131 O street northwest; Mrs. Clara Mayhew, 1013 Fourth street northeast; James H. Knipe, 2701 Twenty-fourth street northeast; Louis A. Schneebeli, 3606 Thirteenth street northwest; Clyde E. Taylor, 1206 Tenth street northwest; Agnes I. Fealy, 1528 Sixteenth street northwest; Frederick W. CIVILIANS TO APPEAR FIRST IN POLICE QUIZ nesses subpenaed to appear yesterday. All were excused and advised to appear either today or tomorrow.

Policemen in First Precinct May Not Be Called at Inquiry Today.

Early issuance of subpenas was explained yesterday as a protective measure against intimidation of witnesses. Some of their number, including Harker himself, are known to have been approached before the subpenas were issued Saturday.

Harker informed justice agents that while in the vicinity of Twelfth and New York avenue northwest en route to the Department of Justice one day last week, he heard footsteps behind him, and a voice said:

Sped Away in Auto.

Harker said he turned quickly, in time to see a man about six feet tall, in blue suit and light felt hat, his hair slightly grayed, going toward a car which apparently was following him. Harker said the man got into the car which sped away, without getting a glimpse of his face.

District Attorney Leo A. Rover, mysteriously absent from his office most of yesterday, stated on his return that he is ready to proceed today as planned.

He would not divulge his whereabouts, but stated he had been at work in preparation of his case. Nor would the man who will personally present the brutality charges before the grand jury disclose the identity of the policemen or alleged "victims" involved in the five cases.

Last night it was known definitely only that Privates James A. Mostyn, W. C. Groomes, William R. Laffiin and William T. Burroughs are involved, and they in three cases in addition to the now famous Harker case.

40 Witnesses Subpenaed.

Forty witnesses have been subpenaed to appear today and tomorrow, and it seemed probable last night the grand jury may report its findings as early as Friday.

Although the Department of Justice disclosed yesterday that a number of persons have come before it with graft charges involving police, it has in all such cases asked the parties reporting to give their information to the district attorney, as the scope of the Department of Justice investigation is strictly limited to allegations of third-degree methods and police brutality.

Mr. Rover said last night however that no charges of police graft have come to his attention. If they do, he made clear, they will be thoroughly investigated, and presented to the grand jury if need be, though not in connection with the present third degree hearings.

Perjury Indictments.

He said it was altogether possible that perjury indictments may be sought against any of the witnesses falsely testifying before the grand jury.

He explained, however, that such charges of perjury as might arise would be judged solely on the truth of the testimony before the grand jury, and not on piror statements or affidavits made in connection with the cases. Following the Harker allegations, 21 policemen of the First Precinct made affidavit that to their knowledge Harker was never beaten at the First Precinct.

May Extend Month.

Possibility of the investigation extending through the remainder of the month was seen yesterday at the Department of Justice, where it was learned definitely that no third-degree cases additional to the five mentioned will be presented to the grand jury this week.

Justice agents still are investigating more than a dozen others, but it may be some time, it was indicated, before all will be ready to be offered to the jurors. There is a difference in being morally certain of facts and preparing a watertight case which will withstand assaults of law, it was explained informally in one quarter.

Difficulties in the way of preparing other cases for immediate presentation have been largely those of obtaining proofs where alleged beatings occurred so far in the past that no physical evidence of them still remains, it was said.

PRESIDENT DEFERS FINANCIAL DECISION

out messages that had been received from Govs. Emmerson of Illinois, Rolph of California, Brucker of Michigan, Cross of Connecticut, Parnell of Arkansas, and Conley of West Virginia. All of them assured the President that their State organizations were entirely capable of handling the situation.

President Hoover is in somewhat of a dilemma concerning the Federal financial program for next year. He does not know yet what the income from the existing taxation set-up is going to be, and he realizes that an economic recovery in the next few months will alter the present picture entirely. Hence his decision to postpone the drafting of a financial program.

Watches Situation Abroad.

The President knows that corporation tax returns, which are based entirely on profits, will be diminished greatly. However, he can not foretell how greatly they will be diminished. The same is true of the income tax, which is derived from incomes and earned profits.

President Hoover is watching closely the economic situation abroad. To this, he feels, can be traced most of the trouble in this country. The American economic outlook, he thinks, has been dominated by the collapse of foreign markets and foreign governments. He is hopeful that his plan for a one-year moratorium on international debt payments will restore stability in Europe, but he is convinced that several months must pass before any conclusions can be reached in this connection.

Looking ahead, the President foresees some heavy demands on the Treasury. There is, for example, the money required by the soldier loan legislation. Although between $800,000,000 and $850,000,000 already has been paid out in bonus loans, at the present rate of demand something like $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 more will be needed for the same purpose in the current fiscal year.

Sees Light Ahead.

Another item in the long column of extraordinary expenditures is the $500,000,000 already spent this year, in excess of last year, on Federal construction and road building.

This much can be stated with authority, and that is that the recent funding operations of the Treasury Department, involving an $800,000,000 long-term security issue in June and other of $1,100,000,000 last Monday, do not reflect any future tax policy of the Government. The June issue, it was pointed out, just about took care of last year's $900,000,000 Federal deficit, and the one this week will offset the money already paid out to the war veterans.

The President, while he does not want to minimize the gravity of the present economic situation, can see a little light ahead. He has pointed out to friends that seasonal factors, such as the increased work afforded by crop harvesting and the greatly increased force now engaged in public construction, have lightened the tension that existed last January, when 6,000,000 persons were out of work. Some industries also have reported an improvement, notably the boot and shoe and textile industries. The President, however, is making no predictions concerning general business recovery.

New Issue by Treasury Oversubscribed 4 Times

(Associated Press.)

Subscriptions to the $300,000,000 part of the $1,100,000,000 security issue announced by Secretary Mellon on Monday totaled four times the amount called for. The books were closed last night on the 1½ per cent one-year certificates.

Secretary Mellon in a brief announcement said the subscription to the certificate issue in two days had amounted to $1,200,000,000 and that $500,000,000 of the amount was by persons wishing to exchange maturing certificates for the new issue. He said these subscribers would be allotted 60 per cent of their subscription and none would go to subscribers who wished to purchase certificates for cash.

The books have not been closed on the $800,000,000 of 3 per cent bonds, which made up the remainder of the issue.

They will remain open for receipt of further subscription.

It was generally believed that the issue of bonds would be oversubscribed many times. The last issue of bonds in June, which totaled $800,000,000 was oversubscribed eight times.

The money raised through the bond-certificate issue will be used by the Treasury to pay off $630,000,000 in Treasury certificates and $30,000,000 in interest on the public debt, which fall due on September 15, and to furnish funds to operate the Government until December 15, the next date for the receipt of income taxes.

FARM BOARD CALLED BIG COSTLY 'LEMON'

Pinchot Urges Farmers in Missouri to Unite for Economic Relief.

Sedalia, Mo., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania today described the Federal Farm Board as a "huge and costly lemon" unwanted by the farmers, who, he said, asked for the equalization fee and debenture plan.

Addressing members of the Missouri Farmers Association in annual convention here, the Pennsylvania executive urged them to combine with the city workers in an effort to effect "economic control for the greatest good of the greatest number."

Farm relief, he said, has been dealt with, not as the farmer wanted it, but "as the city men decided it must be handled. * * * The farmer asked for the equalization fee. They asked for the debenture plan. Instead they were given the huge and costly Farm Board, for which they did not ask."

The cost of distribution of farm produce is twice as high as before the war, he said. "There are too many middle profits between the producer and consumer. The price of wheat falls to disastrous levels, and the price of bread stays pretty much where it was. The price of corn falls till the corn belt suffers calamity, and pork chops refuse to follow," he said.

"The middle man regularly pays the farmer too little and charges the consumer too much. Crop area reduction, like the Farm Board's childish proposal to plow up every third row of cotton, is a fascinating subject of conversation," he said. "To make it real would require, in the case of wheat, not only agreement among farmers, but agreement among nations.

"There can be no secure and permanent prosperity in the United States unless agriculture is prosperous. For years we have been saying it. For years we have believed it, but never as a Nation have we acted on our belief."

Chicopee, Mass., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—All salaried employes of A. G. The reduction affects employes not only of the corporation's factories but of its stores throughout the country.

NEW BIDS AWAITED ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Government Operation to Be Considered Only as Final Expedient.

Further proposals for the operation and lease of the Muscle Shoals project were awaited last night, in line with the statement made then by Chairman S. F. Hobbs of the Muscle Shoals Commission, that every means to place the project in private hands would be exhausted before the question of governmental operation would be considered.

The commission called on President Hoover late in the day, after intermittent sessions at which it was decided to extend indefinitely the period within which bids could be submitted.

The President, Mr. Hobbs said, reiterated his opposition to Government operation, but the commission chairman added that his group was not committed to any one plan and that if private operation was unfeasible, it was free to recommend governmental operation.

He asserted the commission's hands were "not tied," but that it had the principal duty of devising a means for the operation of the plant as an aid to agriculture.

Seven bids were before the commission when it began its session.

They were submitted by F. E. Castleberry, Shreveport, La.; Lloyd H. Smith, Battle Creek, Mich.; the Chemical Development Co., New York; Tennessee Electric Power Co., Chattanooga; Alabama Power Co., Birmingham; Baily Furnace Co., Canton, Ohio, and the Davison Chemical Co., Baltimore.

The last company submitted a tentative proposal and requested further time to submit a full proposal.

Indications had reached the commission that the Union Carbide Co., of New York, and the American Farm Bureau Federation, of Chicago, would submit proposals if given more time and additional data on the cost of operation and capacity of nitrate plants Nos. 1 and 2.

A study of these plants had been made by Army engineers, commissioners said, and their findings would be ready for prospective lessors in a few days.

The commission adjourned after the visit to the White House until today, when it will take up the question of the form of legislation to be submitted to Congress on the project.

Commissioners said they had two possible forms of legislation in mind, one described as the "short" form, involving delegation of authority by Congress to the commission to dispose of the project, and the "long" form involving legislative approval of a definite contract.

BALDWIN ASKS TORY SUPPORT OF CABINET

London, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party and president of the council in the new three-party government, today appealed to every Conservative member of Parliament to support the emergency cabinet's financial legislation.

"The forthcoming session is to be one of the most critical in our history," Mr. Baldwin said in a letter sent to all of his parliamentary followers. "I beg you at whatever personal sacrifice to be present on the appointed day and to give your consistent support to the government to enable them to pass the necessary financial legislation.

"Failure to do your duty throughout this crisis would be dishonorable to us as a party and disastrous to the national interest."

The Conservative leader's appeal was issued as the cabinet continued its battle to balance the budget. After a three-hour session today it was announced the ministers had completed their labors in connection with the economy section of the national plan, and that their forthcoming deliberations would be mainly concerned with the financial question—that is, new taxes.

The ministers still hoped to be able to convene Parliament next Tuesday, although it may be necessary to put it off a few days.

The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen today adopted a resolution repudiating the new government and urging the adoption of a definite Socialist policy by the Trade Union Congress and the Labor party, "with a view of changing the present credit system of the nation and combating the power of capitalist financiers, both national and international."

Dominions Secretary J. H. Thomas, who resigned yesterday from his official position with the National Union of Railwaymen before being dismissed, was angry today when he heard that the organization had voted against giving him his pension.

"It's cruel, harsh and vindictive," he said. "It's not the railwaymen I knew."

New Rate Rule Sought By Pullman Company

Chicago, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The Pullman Co. announced today that it had filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a tariff, establishing a charge for a second passenger occupying a berth or section. The rate, which becomes effective October 15, will be 20 per cent of the lower berth rate, but will not apply to children under 12 years of age.

"This charge is analagous to that made by hotels for double occupancy of a room," read the company's statement. "Over 90 per cent of Pullman passengers will not be affected by this new regulation."

When Washington Was Younger—No. 32

A GREAT deal of water has flowed from Washington fire hose since this picture was taken. It shows the members of the No. 18 Engine Company back in the peaceful days of 1909.

Some of these men are dead and others, with a few more lines in their faces and graying hair, are yet members of the Fire Department. The uniforms worn by these men have long gone out of fashion. For instance the visor cap and this particular style of dress coat. These coats were worn to everything but a fire, funerals and weddings being the most popular excuse for their appearance.

Vatican to Yield On Compatibility

Vatican City, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—The compatibility of catholicism and fascism will be recognized in the new Italo-Vatican accord ending controversy over Catholic clubs, it was stated reliably today.

In the future it will be possible for members of the Catholic Action Society, which was closed late last spring on charges of antifascist activity, to belong to the Fascist party.

Although it was understood that amplification of the attitude of the state and the Holy See would await official publication of the accord, probably this week, the question of compatibility was considered unusually significant in the long history of their relations.

Hoover Invited to Attend Unveiling of Monument

(Associated Press.)

Thomas J. Hamilton, editor of the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle, yesterday invited President Hoover to attend the unveiling on November 14 of a memorial in Augusta to Dr. Paul R. F. Eve, one of the heroes of the Polish revolution in 1831.

Dr. Eve was a noted surgeon and at one time president of the American Medical Association. Born in Augusta in 1806, he later served four years during the Civil War a chief of the medical examining board of the Confederate army.

President Hoover took the invitation under consideration.

$30,000 License Flayed, Gambling Club to Close

Calexico, Calif., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Marvin Allen figured today that $30,000 a month was too much to pay for the right to operate the A. B. W. Club, leading bar and gambling establishment in Mexicali, Lower California.

He announced it was closing its doors and forfeiting its concession from the Mexican government. He characterized the sum charged the club as exhorbitant, adding he had lost $10,000 a month during the last three months.

The GIRL About Town

SENATOR BORAH has put a radio in his house so he can hear all that is said about him during the coming campaign. They'll be saying a plenty if he sticks to his dry platform—and he will. He has adopted the old Scottish motto: "They say—what say they? Let them say."

Grace Waggaman Pulver is the latest recruit to the ladies of the New Freedom League. Her friends are planning a big party for her when she steps off the Reno limited at the end of the week. Saw George on F street the other day looking rather mournful. Better luck next time. Wonder if they will meet. It has really come to such a pass in Washington that you are lucky if you do not catch your wife examining the time tables for Reno before the jangle of wedding bells has ceased. This divorce issue is complicating Washington society so much that you can not enter a cabaret or the Senate gallery without bumping into an ex-wife or so.

From the five prisoners' statements police said they learned the kidnaping was carried out in this manner:

Bettine Green telephoned Rosenthal that a mutual friend had suggested she call him. They arranged to meet at a midtown restaurant. Later they met Markham, Rocco and Adnolfi. Rosenthal was introduced to them and was induced to go for a ride in their car.

They had gone only a short distance when the three men pointed revolvers at the broker and ordered him to lie on the floor of the automobile. He then was taken to the apartment which was Rosenthal's prison from then until last Saturday.

GERMANY-CHICAGO HOP IS COMPLETED

Last year he flew from Germany to New York.

The flight finished today was begun August 9, from the Island of List Sylt, on the north seacoast of Germany. Stops were made in Iceland, Greenland and Canada, for the purpose of studying weather conditions and gathering other data for possible establishment of regular air service between the Eastern and Western Hemispheres over this route.

Capt. Gronau told newspapermen that a commercial air line over the Greenland icelands would not be feasible.

"The expense to build depots, landing fields, emergency fields and to generally make the route safe would be too much," Capt. Gronau said.

Tri Utilities Firm To Be Reorganized

Receiver Is Appointed for Corporation on Failure to Meet Interest.

New York, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Formation of a reorganization committee for the Tri Utilities Corporation, was announced today, after appointment of a receiver for the large public utility holding corporation in Wilmington, Del.

The company controls utilities serving nearly 700 municipalities scattered through 26 States. Total assests were carried in the December 31 balance sheet at $397,487,420.

The corporation defaulted in the semiannual interest payment due today on its 5 per cent convertible debenture bonds. The reorganization committee will work out a plan expected to keep the properties intact.

Former Bond Company Officers Again Indicted

Boston, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—An additional indictment against five men as officers in 1928, of the American Bond & Mortgage Co., of New York and Chicago, was issued today by a Federal grand jury. The men were indicted two weeks ago on charges of using the mails to defraud and today's bill contained similar charges.

The men are William J., Harold A., Charles C., and Kenneth W. Moore and Hayden W. Ward. It is charged that the alleged fraud was committed in connection with the issue of $475,000 in bonds on a Brookline apartment block.

Cave-In Traps Worker; 1,000 Watch Rescuers

Maytown, Pa., Sept. 1 (U.P.).—William Bowers, 33, was caught at the bottom of a 36-foot well today by a cave-in as he was repairing a pipe line.

Tonight 1,000 persons stood at the entrance of the well and watched workmen frantically digging to extricate the man. It was doubtful whether Bowers was still alive, although at 8 p. m. he shouted through the crevices in the earth and stone: "For God's sake hurry and get me out of here." An ambulance was waiting.

WOODCOCK OUSTS TWO DRY AGENTS

(Associated Press.)

Prohibition Director Woodcock yesterday ordered the dismissal of two enforcement agents accused of "liquor deals" and summoned a third for a direct accounting for his arrest recently with a 17-year-old girl, who said she had been hired to help enforce the law.

The Federal dry chief acted after completely recasting the set-up for supervising administrative districts in line with a determination to "make everybody think" in enforcing prohibition.

Ralph E. Dell, of Buffalo, was called to tell his own story tomorrow of his arrest and the activities that preceded it. Woodcock said he hoped that a recent order forbidding employment of women as "blinds" and "decoys" would preclude recurrence of such incidents.

Involved With Bootlegger.

"I want to determine, however, how much Dell was individually responsible," he added, "and how much he was the victim of the system. In line with a general policy of hearing from the one concerned when there is any doubt, I want to hear his story."

Robert L. Bowlin and Howard S. Richards were the agents dismissed. They were suspended in Providence, R. I., on August 13, after their names were brought into a Federal hearing on revoking a bootlegger's probation. Although Woodcock declined to discuss the charges, it was learned the agents were accused of entering into beer and liquor selling deals. Speakeasy and roadhouse proprietors complained against them for ordering drinks on duty, but refusing to pay their bills.

Judge Denies Caldwell Appeal for New Trial

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Judge Chester K. Hart today refused to grant a new trial for Rogers Caldwell, former financier, who was convicted in July of fraudulent breach of trust and sentenced to serve from one to three years in the State penitentiary.

Caldwell's attorneys said the case would be appealed to the Tennessee Supreme Court. Caldwell was president of Caldwell & Co., investment banking house, and its subsidiary, the Bank of Tennessee, before they collapsed last fall.

Darrah Now Brigadier In Spite of Objection

(Associated Press.)

Col. Thomas W. Darrah, chief of staff of the Third Corps Area, yesterday became Brig. Gen. Darrah as he officially assumed the rank for which he was recommended some time ago.

The promotion, which was protested by Representative Wyant, of Greensburg, Pa., remains subject to confirmation by the Senate at the next session. He said he was acting at the request of Pennsylvania National Guard officers who served under Darrah during the World War.

The complaint was based largely upon Darrah having been relieved of his command of an infantry brigade in France.

Reichsbank Cuts Rate From 10 to 8 Per Cent

Berlin, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The Reichsbank today reduced its discount rate from 10 per cent to 8 per cent and the rate on collateral from 12 per cent to 10 per cent, effective tomorrow.

Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, explained that since the resumption of unrestricted banking business the money market had shown satisfactory development and the month-end requirements remained within the usual limits.

ROOSEVELT URGES NEW CRIME LAWS

New York Governor Asks Legislature to Provide Curbs on Gangsters.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today struck at crime in a special message to the Legislature. He urged the immediate enactment of legislation to all organized society in its campaign against "lawlessness which expresses itself in terms of gang warfare, holdups and reckless shootings."

"Gangdom has challenged the strength of the law," he declared. "That challenge we must meet."

His specific recommendations were:

1—A bill prohibiting the sale and private possession of machine guns.

2—Strengthening of the State law governing the purchase and possession of firearms.

3—Measures prohibiting the possession and use of automobiles by "the modern type of gangster, the voluntary idler and the habitual criminal" and "other persons who may use them for criminal purposes.

4—A crime statute providing that "any person who lives habitually idle and bears an evil reputation, or is engaged in some illegal occupation, or consorts with thieves and criminals, or frequents unlawful resorts," be deemed guilty of disorderly conduct.

He also sent to the legislature letters from Acting Mayor Joseph McKee and Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, of New York City, which urged passage of a bill providing an extra penalty for a person possessing firearms who is arrested in a stolen automobile or one bearing fictitious license plates.

The message was received without comment in the Senate and referred to the committee on codes.

New York, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Blame for a large part of New York's racketeering and attendant crime was laid at the door of "half criminals" today by Police Commissioner Mulrooney.

"Half criminals" he described as men who aid others in the violation of law "without really violating the law" themselves. Among them are those who sell bottles, labels and corks to bootleggers, and those who supply winemakers with grapes.

5 Priests Are Drowned As Motorboat Capsizes

Eardley, Quebec, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The wind-roughened waters of the Ottawa River claimed five victims in one sweep today when a power boat carrying a half dozen members of the Dominican Order capsized near here. None of the victims could swim.

The priests were vacationing at a nearby Dominican summer camp. They were bound for the Ontario shore on a day's outing when the outboard motor on their boat stalled, leaving them at the mercy of the waves.

Man Badly Injured As Clothing Burns

Apparel Ignites When Steamroller Bursts Into Flames.

By leaping from a flaming steamroller as it started across the tracks of the Arlington-Fairfax Railway at Hatfield Station, in Arlington County, Frank Adams, 37 years old, a laborer employed by the Army-Navy Country Club, escaped fatal injuries.

Joseph McDonnell, manager of the gasoline station nearby, put out the flames which were rapidly sweeping through Adams' clothes. Staff physicians at Fort Myer Hospital administered first-aid treatment. The man was later removed to the Emergency Hospital for further treatment.

Members of the Clarendon Fire Department, who responded to a call sent in by Mr. McDonnell, put out the blaze on the steam roller. Traffic on the railway was held up for more than an hour.

FLIER AT CLEVELAND PASSES SPEED MARK

Lowell Bayles Hits Pace of 286 Miles an Hour; Two Accidents Mar Day.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Lowell Bayles, of Springfield, Mass., tonight had the unofficial distinction of being the world's speediest land plane pilot, and planned later this week to make the distinction official.

With the grace of a 20-mile wind and his tiny Gee Bee low-wing monoplane, Bayles attained a speed of 286 miles an hour on a mile straightaway in a tryout for the Thompson Trophy race at the national air races today. The world record is 278.8.

Flying four time with and against the wind over the straightaway, he averaged 267.342 miles an hour, more than 1 mile an hour greater than the American record of Lieut. Al Williams, former Navy pilot. To make his speed an official world record, Bayles, transport pilot, with more than 3,500 flying hours, will have a barograph installed in his plane and a 3-kilometer course marked off. To break a record he must top it by approximately 5 miles an hour.

Flier Takes to Chute.

Bayles' breath-taking speed was the high point of a day of thrills, which included the wreck of a glider and the "bailing out" of an Army pilot when his plane became unmanageable.

Lieut. Thayer Olds, 27, of Warren, Ohio, jumped from his ship and landed in Lake Erie, 50 feet from shore and about 7 miles from the airport, while flying with the Thirty-sixth Squadron of the First Pursuit Group, Selfridge Field, Mich. He was looking for an emergency landing because of a severe vibration on the left side of his ship and took to his parachute when the instrument board tore loose.

The other accident occurred when a glider flown by Oliver Morard, of Lakewood, Ohio, nosed over in front of the stands after the rudder broke. He suffered a broken left leg, the worst injury in five accidents so far in the meet.

Mrs. Omlie Beaten.

Besides Bayles, Robert Hall and Ben O. Howard, of Chicago, qualified today for the Thompson race, a 100-mile free-for-all, with $15,000 for the winner.

Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, of Memphis, saw her winning average fall from 1,000 to .750 when Maude Irving Tait, of Springfield, Mass., beat her out by a small margin in the women's straightaway speed dash over a one-mile course. Mrs. Tait covered the course four times at an average speed of 180.844 miles an hour while Mrs. Omlie's plane averaged 149.549. Previously Mrs. Omlie had won the only three events she had participated in, the Santa Monica-Cleveland Handicap Derby, and two women's closed course races.

The women's deadstick landing contest with brakes was won by Florence Klingensmith, Minneapolis, who landed 31 feet 11 inches from the mark. Edith Foltz, Portland, Oreg., second; Joan Shankle, Fort Sills, Okla., third.

Wife of Pension Bureau Examiner to Be Buried Friday.

Mrs. Ruth Bates Stovall, 55 years old, for many years a resident of Washington, died early Tuesday morning of heart disease at her home, 7 East Franklin street, Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Stovall is survived by her husband, William Henry Stovall, a field examiner in the United States Pension Bureau; a son, Bates M. Stovall, formerly an attorney in Washington, now a resident of Jacksonville, Fla.; two sisters, Miss Mary K. Bates, of Baltimore and Washington, and Mrs. Sarah B. Ritchie, of New York, and a brother, J. Edward Bates, an auditor, of Washington.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock, Friday afternoon, at Almus R. Speare's undertaking establishment, 1623 Connecticut avenue. Dr. Andrew M. Brodie, of the New York avenue Presbyterian Church, of which Mrs. Stovall was a member, will officiate. Interment will be private in Rock Creek Cemetery.

LINDBERGHS TO SEE VOLCANO IN JAPAN

Fliers Stop at Karuizawa for Sight-Seeing Trips to Historic Spots.

Karuizawa, Japan, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here today by automobile to start their fortnight of sight-seeing in Japan and to watch the volcano Asama in action. Afterward they plan to fly 650 miles to Nanking, China, in continuance of their vacation flight from New York to the Far East.

The volcano, which began erupting August 8 and has thrown out rocks occasionally, was still smoking, but a heavy mist hid it from the Americans' view. It towers more than 5,000 feet above the summer home of American Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes here. Mr. Forbes assured his guests they would obtain a good view.

After a few days at Karuizawa the Lindberghs will visit the shrines at Nikko, erected to the memory of the Tokugawa Shoguns who ruled Japan for hundreds of years. Ancient capitols at Nara and Kyoto will be visited later.

The famous fliers came to Karuizawa from Tokyo, where last night Anne was conceded by her husband to have taken the honors at a dinner in their honor given by Premier Wakatsuki.

Yeggs, apparently experienced, who blew a safe in the store of former Sheriff Charles F. Early at Brandywine, Md., took $75 in change from the strong box, but overlooked more than $125 in various cash drawers, it was reported yesterday.

Sheriff W. C. Hopkins, who investigated, was enthusiastic about the practiced manner in which the safe was opened. "They couldn't have opened it more neatly if they had known the combination," he said.

HOOVER PROGRAM OF RELIEF LAUDED BY FIVE GOVERNORS

lief organization from 35 cities and towns revealed signs of improved economic conditions in 14 of them, with the situation virtually unchanged in 19, while 2 indicated slight recessions.

Chairman Charles A. Prosser, of the special committee set up to study technological unemployment, said it would present its report to President Hoover November 15.

E. C. Babcock, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, reported that more than 61,000 disabled veterans are out of work.

Secretary Doak of the Labor Department, said the resignation of Francis I. Jones as director general of the United States Employment Service, was "demanded for the good of the service."

Mr. Gifford announced that Young had accepted the chairmanship of the committee to mobilize relief funds as a part of President Hoover's relief organization.

The committee will cooperate with State committees and welfare associations in raising relief funds, both public and private. State-wide committees have already been appointed by governors of many States, Gifford said. He urged such committees be set up in all States facing unemployment problems.

Other members appointed to the committee are:

Bloom, in Fairfax, Talks on 1932 Fete

Urges Virginians to Wear Costumes Popular in Washington's Day.

Describing the way that a small community can participate in the Washington Bicentennial celebration, Representative Sol Bloom, director of the Bicentennial Commission, last night addressed a large gathering at the Fairfax, Va., courthouse.

Mr. Bloom expressed the hope that the residents of Fairfax County would wear the costumes in vogue in Washington's day during the celebration so that the many thousands of visitors who are expected to visit Mount Vernon and Alexandria would be given an opportunity of seeing a living picture of Revolutionary days. He explained that the dresses and costumes have been modernized and could be easily worn without being conspicuous.

Former Representative R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, author of the resolution creating the Bicentennial Commission, also spoke. He recommended that the county publish a booklet, "Fairfax, Washington's Own County," for distribution to visitors.

Postoffice Doctor Fined in Auto Case

Dr. A. W. Martin Blamed for Accident Which Hurt Three Persons.

Convicted of reckless driving, Dr. A. W. Martin, of Beltsville, Md., was fined $5 in Hyattsville Police Court. Dr. Martin, who is in charge of the first aid medical unit at the Washington postoffice, was held responsible for the accident in which three persons, including his wife and himself, were injured recently in Beltsville.

Charges of driving while drunk, failing to stop after a collision, and reckless driving were upheld against Frank Jones, of Baltimore, and he was fined $175. Robert Wipman, of Washington was fined $161 for driving while drunk, reckless driving, leaving after an accident, and having neither permit nor registration card.

An unusual excuse was offered by Clarence Dice, of Brentwood, who was arrested on the unusual charge of driving a truck weighing more than 25,000 pounds on the Baltimore boulevard. Dice told Judge J. Chew Sheriff that the load of sand on the trucks had become wet from the recent rains, and therefore weighed more than usual. Dice was fined $5, however.

WIDOW IN VIRGINIA DENIES DEATH PLOT

Mrs. Jones Accuses Son of False Testimony in Murder Trial.

Amelia Court House, Va., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. Jeston Allen Jones, mother of eight children, denied in her trial for murder late today that she killed her husband, J. Will Jones, or that she plotted his death with Richard Lee, colored farm hand. Her testimony was a sweeping denial of the testimony of her oldest son, Robert, who accused his mother of the plot and of urging him to take his father's life.

Mrs. Jones also said there "was not a word of truth" in testimony of Richard Lee, who is serving twenty years in prison for the crime. Lee told the court that Mrs. Jones and another son, Oscar, offered him $25 on several occasions to commit the crime.

Oscar Jones, who waived immunity to testify for his mother along with a brother and three sisters, likewise denied vigorously the statements of his brother, Robert.

Mrs. Jones was subjected to a gruelling cross-examination late today, but she held to the story as related during her direct examination under questioning of her own attorneys. The defendant, speaking in a tremulous voice, said she had not told Robert she wished her husband was dead.

"He was pressing me because I wouldn't promise him all the money he wanted," she said in explanation of Robert's appearance against her. "He told me if I gave him money to finish V. P. I. and medical school he would stay out of the case."

The widow said Robert had had difficulties with his father over requests for money.

Her testimony was a recital of her married life, telling how she had neglected housework to labor in the fields and dairy barns and aid in building up a small fortune of $54,000. She said her husband was subject to fits of temper and that at least on one occasion he had struck her, but had begged her pardon.

Montgomery Pays $11,047 Pensions

First Report by Offutt Recommends 30 Be Taken Off List.

Montgomery County is spending $11,047 a year for 193 pensioners in the seven commissioner districts, according to the first report of W. Ernest Offutt, supervisor of county aid, made to the Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday at Rockville. Mr. Offutt said his records are not quite complete and may contain slight inaccuracies.

The smallest of the pensions is $15 a month and the largest is $250 a month. Fifty-seven of the pensioners are shown to have slight incomes from other sources than the county. Thirty are recommended for removal from the county rolls and fourteen are shown to be receiving aid from other than county charities, such as church societies, Red Cross and the Social Service League.

Foreign Wars Groups March Two Hours Before Kansas City Throngs.

Kansas City, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Soldiers who followed their country's colors into distant battle fields, followed them again today to the roll of drum and the blare of trumpet in a review of the thirty-second annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Gay uniforms, multi-hued campaign ribbons, shining medals, gorgeously arrayed drum majors, banners and flags transformed the marching columns into a flare of color.

For nearly two hours veterans from all the States, possessions, Cuba and the Canal Zone, swung in the cadence of martial airs played by scores of bands, before the reviewing stand of Commander in Chief Paul C. Wolman and distinguished visitors.

With the display of veteran military proficiency, was added the veteran's display of thirst. An empty beer keg from Minnesota was wheeled along the line of march near a fur-clad Alaskan who carried his own ice in a small wagon.

The "departed," in a hearse from Superior, Wis., proved to be an empty beer case. The accompanying pajama-clad "mourner" solemnly waved a beer bottle at the spectators. A Milwaukee brewery wagon and flasks with Iowa's tall cornstalks were other exhibits by the marching veterans.

Various States added their humorous features to the parade. Although unaccounted for in military "tables of organization," a camouflaged automobile from Gloucester, Mass., was equipped with a bathing beauty who drew her share of applause.

Missouri had her mule, Colorado her mountain burro, and New York a banner calling upon the spectators to "Save America—Roosevelt for President." Ohio had a calliope and West Springfield, Mass., a camouflaged camion with a small barking cannon.

NINE BANKS CLOSED IN ARKANSAS CHAIN

Prosecutor Receives Letter From Its Head Indicating Flight to Canada.

Harrison, Ark., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Nine banks of the A. T. Hudspeth chain in Arkansas closed today and soon thereafter Prosecuting Attorney Jack Holt issued a warrant, charging Hudspeth with the acceptance of deposits in banks he knew were insolvent.

Holt received a letter bearing Hudspeth's name and the postmark of St. Paul, Minn., which said, "When this is in print, I'll be in Canada."

Hudspeth was a controlling stockholder in the banks.

Hudspeth said he had turned over property worth $100,000 and his home for the benefit of depositors, and advised the pubic "to watch the administration of liquidation, because, the property left with what the stockholders had invested would pay every dollar the banks owed."

The banks are the Citizens Bank & Trust Co. and the Peoples Savings Bank, of Harrison; the Citizens Bank at Yellville; the First State Bank at Marshall; the American Exchange Bank at Leslie, the Bank of Alpena Pass; the Bank of Lead Hill at Lead Hill; the Bank of North Arkansas at Everton and the Marion County Bank at Flippen. Aggregate deposits were estimated at $2,000,000.

Hudspth was affiliated with the A. B. Banks group prior to the collapse of the latter last fall.

CENTRAL ENDS MANAGEMENT OF LOCAL GAS COMPANIES

following a second conference with the officials who called yesterday. They are Frank A. Woodhead and George B. Fraser, vice presidents, and Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, counsel, all of the local gas company, and Arthur Dean, New York attorney, representing Mr. Peirce's interests.

At this time the utilities body will either approve or disapprove certain accounts payable to subsidiaries of the Central Public Service Corporation and other accounts already paid. If approved, they will be charged to operating expenses.

As the new proposal of the gas company officials removes the necessity for the order in question, it is likely that the commission will rescind it. Whether all of the items paid or unpaid will be approved is conjectural.

Briefly, the proposal of the gas company officials is this:

To transfer the title of a 12-inch natural gas transmission line from the Public Service Engineering Corporation, a subsidiary of the Central Public Service Corporation, to the Washington Gas Light Co. The portion of the line in Maryland will be given to the Georgetown Gas Light Co. of Montgomery County, Md., which is owned by the Washington company, while that part of the line in the District goes to the Washington concern directly.

Although Central Public Service previously proposed to charge the Washington company $68,500 less a $26,020 credit for this line in the District, the transfer will now be made without cost to the local companies. The large fee was said to have been proposed for negotiating a contract between the Maryland Gas Transmission Co., a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas & Electric Co., which is providing the natural gas, and the Public Service Engineering Corporation.

Performance of this contract was originally guaranteed by the Central Public Service Corporation, but under the new plan this responsibility is withdrawn. The Washington Gas Co. will have a direct contract with the producer and thus evade any further service fees.

A copy of this 27-page contract between the Maryland Gas Transmission Corporation and the Public Service Engineering Corporation is scheduled in the document submitted yesterday.

Under this arrangement a charge of 4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas for the first 6,000,000 cubic feet after the first 3,000,000 is removed. This so-called service fee was paid by the Washington company during May and June, but the July payment was halted by the commission order.

The major items which the commission will pass on today are: (1) The natural gas charges by the Public Service Engineering Corporation for July; (2) ten cars of coal bought by the Washington company from the Central Fuel Corporation, in which Central Public Service is interested but does not control; (3) payments of $8,532.64 to experts of Central Public Service, chiefly for accounting work; and an account of $2,597.69 still due George W. Rossetter & Co. for other accounting work.

Complying with a request of the gas company officials, the commission yesterday agreed to hold the gas ownership hearing, scheduled for September 21, immediately after the gas pressure hearing, which opens September 14.

CONTRACT IS SIGNED FOR EXCAVATION JOB

Interstate Commerce Site Virtually Clear and Ready for Workers.

A contract for excavation work signed yesterday by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ferry Heath heralded the start of work on the new Interstate Commerce Building, Department of Labor and Government Auditorium, the largest unit of the Federal Government's triangle building program. The site, which stretches from Twelfth to Fourteenth streets on Constitution avenue, is virtually cleared and ready for the excavation company, McCloskey & Co., of Philadelphia, whose bid of $618,730 for the work was accepted by the Treasury Department last month.

Although the piece of ground is crossed by the tracks of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway, it is believed that Government authorities and the heads of the rail company will soon come to an agreement concerning the removal of the tracks. For the present it is understood that the company will continue to run into its station at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Ground will soon be broken on the old Center Market site for the new Archives Building, which will be followed by other large construction projects, including the new Postoffice and the Department of Justice.

FUTILE PRICE FIXING.

Confidence in the Farm Board is strengthened by the announcement of Carl Williams, acting chairman, that the board will not attempt to stabilize wheat or cotton prices by further purchases of those commodities. Public opinion has been turning against the board in recent months. If it had accepted the plan of Southern senators to enter the cotton market again its chances for survival through the next congressional session would have been slight. But the decision to abide by economic law puts the board in a much more favorable light.

For the first time a member of the board has admitted the futility of its so-called stabilization operations. "The board has discovered, and hopes the American people have discovered," says Mr. Williams, "that continued purchases in the face of overproduction is not the remedy for the situation." He notes the fact that cotton stocks have been accumulating over a period of four years, and wheat stocks over six years. In spite of that recognized fact, the board was trying to bolster up wheat and cotton prices with taxpayers' money only a few months ago. In effect, Mr. Williams admits a costly mistake and gives assurance that the board will not again indulge in such hopeless ventures.

There is only one way whereby the prices of cotton and wheat can be raised, and that is by limitation of the output. Farmers now have no reason to hope that the Farm Board will take care of their surplus. They must either limit their acreage or prepare to accept prices that are below production costs.

The Farm Board will not be on a sound footing, however, until it gets rid of the wheat, cotton and coffee stocks now in possession of its stabilization agencies. In trying to dispose of these commodities without incurring enormous losses the board is meeting with endless difficulties. When the wheat-coffee deal was made with Brazil assurance was given that it would not interfere with the marketing of this year's bumper wheat crop. Now Brazil has put an embargo on the importation of flour for eighteen months, destroying a market for about 849,000 barrels of American flour, which would have required 6,000,000 bushels of wheat and would have sold for about $4,386,000. The board agreed to hold its Brazilian coffee for a year to avoid glutting the American market, but apparently it did not take precautions to assure American wheat growers and millers of protection against a total loss of their Brazilian market.

American agriculture will not have smooth sailing again until the Farm Board gets out of the business of buying and selling crops. Even though the board should not again attempt price stabilization it will pay dearly for the mistakes it has already made. Its enormous stores of wheat, cotton and coffee will not be disposed of without grief. But apparently the board has learned its lesson. When it is able to get rid of these surplus commodities it may become a highly useful agency in the promotion of cooperative marketing.

A TRADITION RESTORED.

Crowds of spectators traveled down to New York Bay last week to see the world's largest flying ship, the DO-X. The interest evidenced in this twentieth century wonder was widespread and it was enthusiastically acclaimed as an achievement in modern transportation. Another ship has also just arrived to interest the multitudes of that great city. Amid the salutes of the Army and Navy coast guard and a fine display of hunting "Old Ironsides," escorted by 300 vessels, sailed through the harbor and up the Hudson River to the Seventy-ninth street pier, where it will be on exhibition to the public.

The Navy Department, under the stimulus of popular demand, has again reconditioned the Constitution, with the promise that it will be able to go to sea under its own canvas and visit American ports as a living thing, and not as a museum piece. Next year, as a feature of the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration, this historic ship will come to Washington.

A century ago the frigate was pronounced unseaworthy and plans were made for its destruction. It was then that Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote "Old Ironsides," which was published in the Boston Advertiser. The storm of protest which this aroused resulted in saving the ship. After being laid up for years the Constitution was reconditioned, and it crossed the Atlantic in 1878. When it was just 100 years old, in 1897, its masts were removed and it was formally pronounced defunct. Yet fate has saved "Old Ironsides" from destruction and today it lives to sustain the glory won when it fought the Barbary pirates and in 1812 won two of the most brilliant victories in American naval history against British men-of-war.

In the battle with the English frigate Java the Constitution fought for two hours with its steering gear shot away. With 54 guns firing on the British vessel "Old Ironsides" struggled obstinately against the enemy until it wrecked the Java and forced the British to capitulate.

In a desire to keep the prearranged schedule of the New York visit the Navy Department allowed the frigate to be towed to its temporary resting place on the Hudson. Before its Washington trip, however, the department has stated that it will be sent to sea under its own sail.

PURELY AMERICAN.

The United States Shipping Board has taken the wise course of ordering the negotiation of a contract whereby the United States Lines shall be operated by an American corporation having no foreign affiliations or entanglements. The board has decided to give the Chapman-Dollar-Dawson organization an opportunity to operate the most important American line and build it up to the point where it can compete with any foreign combination.

The ramifications of the ocean shipping business are many and complicated. American commerce always gets the worst of it when foreign interests have it in their power to control ocean shipping. Competition is not only a necessity, but American ship operators must be supported by the Government in order to hold their own against operators who have the support of foreign governments. It is in reality a contest of governments. The failure of the United States Government until recently to stand by its ship operators enabled foreigners to collect an immense toll from American commerce. Now there is a prospect that American sea trade will be emancipated from the control of foreign ship combines.

INSURANCE MAINTAINED.

Despite the lull in business activity, life insurance has kept up remarkably well during the past year, even in comparison with 1929, the peak year which brought forth new business amounting to $12,885,000,000. The first seven months of this year show a decline of only 11.6 per cent as compared with the same period in 1929. These figures are compiled by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents and represent statistics from 42 member companies, which control 82 per cent of the life insurance business of the country.

Since 1913 the value of new policies issued has increased steadily with the exception of three years. In 1913 the total was $2,341,000,000. A steady ascent continued until 1921, when the total for that year declined 16.4 per cent below 1920. The following year, however, the climb was resumed, and 1922 showed an increase of virtually $1,000,000,000 over the previous year.

New policies totaled $5,949,000,000 in 1923 and over $10,000,000,000 in 1925. The steady growth which continued until 1929 declined in 1930 by 3.3 per cent. The present decline is less severe in proportion to the volume of business than it was during the depression of a decade ago.

Industrial insurance has made the best showing of the year. This is especially significant, as this type is the most expensive insurance. The cumulative total for the seven months in this class declined only 4.7 per cent below the 1930 figures and 5.2 per cent under the 1929 record. This fact indicates that industrial inactivity and unemployment have not caused people to default on their policy payments. Allowing for adverse factors, the total outstanding volume of insurance at the end of the year will not be considerably decreased.

A PORK-BARREL STATESMAN.

Gov. Pinchot's latest excursion into the realm of national politics is an attempt to join farmers and laborers in a movement to secure an agricultural equalization fee and a Federal dole at the next session of Congress. His plan, as expounded before the Missouri Farmers' Association, is the common old, pork-barrel method. Labor would help the farmers put a siphon into the Treasury in the form of an equalization fee or export debenture bounty. The farmers in turn would support the demands of labor for an anti-injunction law and help the unemployed to dip into Uncle Sam's coffers.

"The surest way to get relief for either," says the genius of Harrisburg, "is to combine in demanding relief for both. Could any power in America prevent the farmers from getting the equalization fee or the debenture plan, and getting it quick, if labor organizations and farm organizations stood together in demanding it?"

The farmers and working men will need a leader in the Pinchot plan to raid the Treasury. Who is so eminently qualified as Pinchot himself? He is the friend of the farmer. Until his light began to beam upon the world the farmer was an orphan of politics. Now the farmer is to become the ruling element in a mighty Nation. Let farmers fall in line behind Farmer Giff. Has he not championed every quack remedy for the ills of agriculture that has been proposed in the last half century? With the air of a Moses leading the children of Israel into the promised land he beckons to farmers throughout the country to follow him to the open vaults of the Treasury.

All that is necessary to carry this beautiful dream forward is the help of labor. But that should not be difficult. Are not "labor and the farmer cheated by the same people, despised by the same people, exploited by the same people, and kept apart by the same people?" Let them rally around this new champion of the "plain people." He will lead them away from the laws of economics and from the necessity of working for their sustenance. Why should any one linger in distress when Pinchot with his magic wand stands ready to point the way to Federal beneficence?

By some oversight on his part Gov. Pinchot forgot to ask the veterans to join in the march on Washington with a demand for another bonus and a pension. Nevertheless, his address stands as a masterpiece of mendicancy. He has taken the measurement of the American people by his own standards and believes them to be a lot of whining parasites who are ready to give up the struggle for improvement of their own conditions and sponge on Uncle Sam. He thinks he can broach the Treasury by uniting two great branches of the people against all others. It is an old game, long ago discredited, and is played now only by demagogues who persist in believing that Lincoln was wrong when he said that you can't fool all the people all the time.

REPAYING FARM LOANS.

Money for the purchase of seed, fertilizer, feed and such crop necessities was made available last year to farmers of drought and storm areas through the farmers' seed loan office. An excellent spirit on the part of the borrowers has been manifest. Though the loans are not yet actually due, G. H. Hoffman, chief of the office, reports that one-fourth of the $230,324 borrowed has already been repaid.

Farmers who had taken advantage of the seed fund were advised that the collection date would not be enforced, but that they would be permitted to hold their crops if they desired, with the hope of securing better prices. Despite this leniency, the borrowers have continued to pay back their indebtedness. Collections in the Northwest may be delayed, however, as in that area the drought has been more severe this year than last.

Alienists in Nebraska are studying a physician who has an irresistible urge to burn things. He'd made a good head for the Senate campaign funds investigating committee.

One of the greatest boners Giff Pinchot ever made was to include in his recent speech the old maxim: "Charity begins at home."

RESULTS OF EXTRAVAGANCE

From the Boston Transcript.

Those brilliant radicals who have said that Mr. Mellon was spoofing the Congress of the United States now have their answer. Time and again in the past, when the Secretary gave warning that unbridled expenditure would lead to a heavy deficit, the Treasury's critics said that this was merely a cry of "Wolf! Wolf!" For a while, when receipts kept up in more than the volume expected, the objectors may have seemed right. Now, realities show them wrong. After a deficit of $903,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30, now in two months of the current year a further deficiency of $387,000,000 has been incurred.

Here is a warning more powerful than any man's words. Today the train of our national economy does not confront merely a protective block-signal set to give notice that a wash-out lies ahead. That signal, as Mr. Mellon set it two or more years ago, the locomotive has already run by. Congress drove the engine recklessly ahead, and, as the Treasury's figures prove, the train left the rails some time since. It is plowing along through the wash-out, and if its speed and direction continue unchecked, it can only plunge deeper and deeper into the flood. That being the case, the brakes must go on. There must be a return to economy in governmental expenditure. The restraining pressure must be applied all along the line—in State and municipal government no less than in the national budget. The world looks to the United States for leadership today, and, with Great Britain and Germany now determined upon resolute grappling with their governmental deficits by means of careful economy, we can not lead unless we determine forthwith to set our own house in order.

Meanwhile, as to the form and way in which Mr. Mellon has decided to deal with the Treasury's existing needs, we regard it as not only favorable but as fundamentally strong and constructive. The financial wisdom of moving the current indebtedness of the United States Government into long instead of short term maturities is now most evident. Secretary Mellon has just returned from an extensive visit abroad. While there he can not fail to have seen that it is the present vast volume of short-term obligations of governments which constitutes the biggest cloud—the thunderhead, so to speak—of the financial storm which is now sweeping the world. The volume of that cloud must be reduced, and the United States is in the best position of all countries to begin its reduction and to accomplish reduction both promptly and in a large way. Eight hundred millions of 20 to 24 year bonds, added to the other two issues of long though not quite so long term which were issued earlier this year, will remove a very important share of our own Treasury's short-term offerings.

By so doing, we are certain that Mr. Mellon will be found to have made, in a time of much need, an important contribution to the relaxation of this country's financial tension and economic strain. Capital, finding that short-term obligations of the United States have become even less available than they are today as an easy means of earning with perfect security at least a small rate of return, will gradually begin to look with more and more favor upon all classes of longer term bonds and investments. Sound undertakings, having needs for long-term money but for which they may be unable today to secure a hearing, so long as secure short-time obligations absorb investment interest, will find themselves better off before many more weeks have passed, because they will have a more favorable chance to compete for funds.

What is needed in this Nation today, and throughout the world, is a relaxation of credit-tension. Secretary Mellon has begun to give it. Every American who cares for country first and party last should uphold the Secretary's hands, and see to it that his helpful initiative be not thwarted by congressional waste and extravagance in the next session, but carried through, in a sound way, to complete recovery from the present depression and into new entrance upon years of prosperity.

POST HASTE.

American business is so preponderantly home-grown that it is not necessary for us to wait for returning prosperity to be forced upon us by foreign trade.

Even some congressmen have learned that there is a point at which higher taxes on wealth produce less revenue and where higher taxes on industrial capital are prejudicial to labor.

The French suggestion that all nations put their armies under the command of the League of Nations is a neat bit of camouflage and indicates a budding if belated sense of humor.

The British Labor party has lost MacDonald and Thomas, and if it could lose Henderson it might make a new start without a deficit.

The population of Rome has passed the million mark, but Tiber Town will have to hustle if it wants to match our Little Italy in New York.

Disraeli said "all power is a trust." The oil companies might restrain Gov. Murray's militia under the Sherman law.

Senator Fess, former president of Antioch College, makes a plea to the President and the public in favor of the liberal arts college movement. A perfectly safe subject for the Republican chairman.

The boys were modest yesterday. The Foreign War Vets only asked for the other 50 per cent of the bonus and the Legionnaires at Long Beach merely favored a $5,000,000,000 Federal bond issue.

A large section of the Capital was flooded with escaping gas yesterday, but as Congress is not in session the old cracks will not be dusted off.

Mr. Wrigley will give a big prize to any one who invents a way to make gum chewing an aristocratic exercise; to make society gum-unconscious, as it were.

Please give chedit: No comments today on the new golf ball, Mr. Woodcock, the Farm Board, Lindbergh or the moratorium.

JUST FOLKS

THE WHIPPOORWILL.

For two long hours I hear your shrill,
Loud, constant calling "Whippoorwill,"
And wonder, curious evening bird,
By what strange impulse you are stirred
That when the pale moon floods the sky,
You startle humans with your cry.

I cannot quite make out the call.
Is it from fear the moon may fall
Upon you as it floats above?
It is a cry to those you love,
Lured by the silver beams to stray
In other groves of trees to play?

What is you secret pain or thrill,
Gray bird, self-named the "Whippoorwill?"
Is it from duty or delight
You voice that constant call at night?
And are you in that manner queer,
Serving some useful purpose here?

Strange bird! The wisest man in vain
Attempts your mystery to explain.
We know not why your life was planned.
Your call we cannot understand
And God must smile to see us still Confounded by a Whippoorwill.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MOST people believe in the evolution of man for the same reason that they once believed in Santa Claus.

Somebody told them it was true and belief required less mental effort than examination of the evidence.

Observe, now, how greatly the belief taxes common sense.

It is conceded that the laws of nature do not change.

If the so-called "lower animals" ever had the capacity to develop into higher forms, they have it still.

If the monkey family ever was capable of development into creatures more like men, it has the same capacity now.

Yet the monkeys pictured four thousand years ago were like the monkeys of today. The family has made no progress in 40 centuries.

It is evident, then, that evolution must be a process infinitely slow and gradual.

That is a reasonable deduction and may be accepted without argument.

But if no perceptible change occurs in four thousand years, what period of time is required for one forward step? Ten thousand years? Fifty thousand?

Suppose a definite advance is made in fifty thousand years. What then? One advance doesn't change monkey into man. The process of change must be gradual, one improvement leading to another.

There would need to be more than one missing link. Many thousands of forward steps would be required to make a change so great. And if each step required fifty thousand years, fifty million would hardly suffice to complete the evolution.

Grant that, if you will. And ask yourself what became of all those thousands of families that were neither monkeys nor men.

If the fittest survive, as they seem to do, why did the first improved monkey perish? He must have mated and produced his kind for fifty centuries to carry on the process of evolution. What became of that breed? What became of the other thousands that followed each an improvement on the one that preceded it?

How could the original monkey family survive intact if all of the intermediate breeds, more intelligent and fitter to survive, disappeared from the earth?

If the monkeys could survive through fifty million years, how strange that not one of the thousands of super-monkey families, nearer and nearer to man, lived on to tell the tale.

PRO AND CON

Self-Reliant Cities.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The survey of the United States Chamber of Commerce, which shows that more than 1,000 cities are prepared to finance their own unemployment relief this winter, is an effective answer to those who would have the Federal Government take over the job. The survey showed only eight cities which saw little or no hope of financing their relief work.

It was with confident belief that the cities and States were both ready and able to face their own problem that President Hoover set in motion the work being supervised by Mr. Walter Gifford. That work is largely a matter of coordination of effort and assistance in organization. Already Mr. Gifford and his staff have had assurance of complete cooperation from all over the country, and this latest report, made by an entirely unrelated agency, proves the soundness of the program. No self-respecting city or State is going to go begging in Washington, but will do its best to handle its own problems.

The New Bond Issue.

New York Herald Tribune.

While borrowing may perhaps be justified as an expedient for meeting a temporary shortage in revenues, it can scarcely be regarded as either wholesome or dignified over any considerable period. Sooner or later, if we are to accept informed opinion that the present situation is chronic rather than a passing phenomenon, the question of bringing in greater revenues must be faced in earnest. There are two avenues of approach to this problem: Existing taxes can be increased, or, as Secretary Mellon has suggested, the tax base can be broadened so that the burden does not rest even more heavily than at present upon incomes and customs. Such an inquiry must lead inevitably and logically to the desirability of harnessing the flood of funds now going into illicit liquor profits and diverting it to its proper destination, the public treasury.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Citizen Thinks That Pinchot's Whine for Federal Relief Is Getting Tiresome.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Can not some one furnish Giff Pinchot with a bright idea? It is getting pathetic and also tiresome the way he is trying to get under the spotlight.

First, he asked that the Red Cross feed the coal strikers; this would have been warmly welcomed by others who might take a notion to go on strike. It would have been even better had he recommended that the Legislature pass a law authorizing the payment of "strike benefits" by the State. Then the strikers could buy either food or gas, as they preferred. We note the doctor who administers to them says that his patients have autos standing in front of their houses but no gas to run them.

Next, Giff, without waiting to hear facts, telegraphed an emphatic protest against the dismissal of "sixty-seven" miners for joining the union. But he was informed there were only 16 and the cause was mischief-making.

When he gets up to speak, it is one beautiful whine for the United States to advance relief. Everybody knows what Giff is after and they know he is willing to put money into it. It is known that he has put far more money into his two campaigns for the governorship than he can possibly get out of the job honestly.

Now, if Giff would simply put up the difference between expenditure and legal return on these two campaigns and the same margin on the campaign he is after, he could provide a whole lot of relief himself, but does anyone expect to see him do it? Not if he can get the rest of us to do it.

Remember the story of "Fweddy" at Atlantic City, telling how he saved the life of a lady bather? "I wan up and down the beach," he said, "scweaming for help." The people of Pennsylvania are being drowned in humiliation while Gov. Pinchot runs up and down the State screaming for a dole. JOHN CRAWFORD.

Californian Slaps at Politicians Who Are Seeking Prosperity Out of the Federal Treasury.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Out West here we are being daily bombarded by a loud-voiced demand for a Federal grant of $5,000,000,000 for relief of the unemployed. This plan is urged as a sure cure for depression, just as the bonus payment was advertised a year ago and just as the American Federation of Labor tells us that continued high wages for those who are employed is a guarantee of salvation for the unemployed.

I do not know in what school of economics these would-be doctors received their diplomas, but it certainly could not have been in the school of common sense. The granting of the bonus has made no appreciable difference in the general depression. The payment of high wages did not prevent the present slump in business; so how high wages can cure it must seem quite a mystery to the average citizen.

When we are informed that a Federal gift of billions is going to substitute sunshine for shadow we have good reason to be skeptical. Would these billions initiate new and profitable industries? Apparently not. They are just meant to help the unemployed to mark time until the lost army of prosperity catches up. And when will that be? Nobody knows. More billions would be then demanded, and after a while our rich country would find itself alongside the other dole-bankrupted countries—Great Britain and Australia.

Our business needs reconstruction, not an extravagant bolstering up of a system which has failed to meet present conditions. "Let George do it," is the easy and selfish philosophy of superficial politicians. "Let us all do it," is the only solution worthy of a real democracy. R. C. McADIE, San Francisco, Calif.

Fight Between Traffic Pushers and Park Defenders—A Test Case at Taft Bridge.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This week the District Commissioners will decide whether the parkway at the south end of Taft Bridge shall be entirely obliterated.

The Department of Vehicles and Traffic, headed by Director Van Duzer, favors the obliteration in order to provide for a freer flow of traffic. In opposition Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, voices the sentiment of our esthetic-minded citizenry.

This latest contest between the utilitarians and the beautifiers is of special interest because it indicates what may happen if the hard-boiled traffic experts have their way. If they do, it will furnish still another precedent for the condemnation of other beauty spots. My earnest hope is that the beautifiers will win.

WAR MOTHERS HERE AT ODDS OVER CHAIR

National Convention May Be Called On to Decide Who Is Chapter Head.

The national convention of the American War Mothers will probably be called upon to settle factional differences in the local organization of War Mothers over the right of Mrs. William W. Morrison, 4031 Connecticut avenue northwest, to the presidency of the District Chapter.

A statement issued yesterday by a member of the local group to the effect that Mrs. Morrison had been "deposed" by action of the national board of the organization was met by vehement denial and affirmation.

The trouble is blamed by Mrs. Morrison upon several members here "who had lost their power" in the organization and desired to retaliate by bringing about her removal. Some of those opposing her stated yesterday that they now held Mrs. Lucy B. Cash, 1836 Sixteenth street northwest, to be the local head of the chapter. Mrs. Cash has been serving as first vice president.

Mrs. M. C. O'Neil, of this city, national custodian of the War Mothers, said yesterday that the national president, Mrs. Virgil McClure, of Lexington, Ky., had declared Mrs. Morrison's office vacated and had selected Mrs. Cash to succeed her.

Dismissal of Rail Rate Raise Appeal Is Asked

Chicago, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—A motion for denial of the proposed 15 per cent freight rate increases and dismissal of hearings on the railroads' petition for the boosts was made before the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing today by A. B. Cronk, representing Indianapolis shipping interests, and was taken under advisement.

It came as a climax to a vigorous all-day cross-examination of Fairman R. Dick, who said he represented holders of $1,700,000,000 in railroad securities, by Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, and former Gov Clyde M. Reed, of Kansas.

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—A proposal to reduce the salaries of deputies by 10 per cent, those of married civil servants by 5 per cent and those of unmarried civil servants by 10 per cent has been presented to Parliament by the government.

In the winter Mr. and Mrs. Curtis embarked on a cruise of the Mediterranean, leaving little Edwina in Washington with her grandmother. They made the trip a complete holiday, leaving at home the portable typewriter which has aided Mrs. Curtis, as Nancy Hoyt, in achieving fame as a novelist.

On their return they came at once to Washington, and had only been here a short time when Mrs. Curtis formulated plans for another trip abroad, which has kept her traveling on the Continent all summer.

FRANCES M'DONALD

On the Rocks.

DEAR Frances McDonald: My fiance is 35 years of age and makes $2,700 per annum. I am 22 years of age and make $1,800 per annum. The wedding will take place soon. Naturally, I will resume my position as secretary to a very prominent and very busy executive upon our return from a trip. My job is very enervating, and I am usually very tired at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. We will live in a three-room apartment until I resign, which will occur when a child is born.

Here's my question: Should I be expected to prepare dinner every evening after I have worked in an office during the day the same hours as my husband will have worked?" He is a "big eater" and very fastidious about his food. We both have many friends—play bridge frequently, attend concerts, plays, movies and do a normal amount of entertaining. I am willing to keep an apartment in good order and prepare breakfast, but I can't see why brides should spoil the first few years working themselves so much when they work the same hours as their husbands—while friend husband rests, reads the paper, &c.

I go to school two nights a week, and I think my husband and I should eat our dinners out most of the time.

Please write on this question as soon as you can. He reads your column daily and puts much faith in it. So help me. He at present doesn't see the situation as I do.

MODERN.

Well, some marriages drift upon the rocks and others seem to be launched right from the rocks. Picture this couple after six months of trying to save the craft!

In the first place, any man who is willing that his wife continue her job should be willing to eat restaurant meals. What audacity for him to expect anything else!

On the other hand, if a man is opposed to the idea of his wife continuing her work outside the home, then the girl should either give up the job or the man. It may be laid down as a fact that a woman can not do justice to any sort of demanding outside job and cook meals at home by way of pastime!

Few men feel able to hold night jobs and day jobs, too; and fewer women can stand such physical strain. Men of the type who demand things should remain bachelors. They usually do except when a marriage promises some personal advantage. If this man is demanding that you keep house for him as well as support yourself, you would do well to hand him over to some girl who has been catty to you. He is looking for home-cooked meals with no expense involved. If you go through with the marriage as planned you will be constantly at war. And if he really is marrying you to increase his own comfort at your expense you will hate him within 30 days.

Look this lad over very carefully, for single blessedness is blessedness indeed as one looks back upon it from the turmoil of an unfortunate marriage. Be in no haste to mortgage your happiness. And marry no man who thinks of himself first and of you as an afterthought. When men love they give all and only regret their inability to give more. Stop, look and listen! This man does not measure up.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 2 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:10 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to noon and from 7 p. m. to 8:40 p. m.

This date (September 2) will bring far-reaching changes in your life. This applies with special emphasis to those who are in their 18th, 31st, 43d or 55th years. Middle-aged and elderly people are threatened with functional troubles, and should take special care of their health.

The child born on this September 2 will have an ardent, a refined and subtle nature. It will have literary ability—and ambitious strivings. It will have a rather cramped life, during its early years, but will have more opportunities after its 21st year. It will be capable of loving much and will be lovable.

Born on September 2, you have only ordinary talents, but you have keenness, a spirit to dare, and the will to do. You do not lead an objectless existence and purposeless life; your aims are definite and within reach. You do not form interests and drop them, at least not until you have exhausted their benefits. You are not inert. You are anxious to make the most of the modest gifts nature has given you. You are constantly striving to become a more intelligent man or woman, and to better your existence. There is strength to your character. You are broad-minded, and tolerant, not only in theory, but in practice. You are not a self-appointed judge of other people and their sins. You are an artist for minding your own business.

You make quick decisions, but not until you have had time to give reasonable study to all sides of a question. You also abide by your decisions, and do not waste time over post-mortems. You run your life pretty well on your own, and seldom seek advice or help from others. You always aim to do the right thing at the right time, and you resent criticisms. Not a nagger yourself, it irritates you to be the victim of one.

You will not be a home-body until after you have lived the first half of your life, and feel like settling down. You are socially ambitious.

Anne Whitney, sculptor.
Henry George, political economist.
Caspar Whitney, author and editor.
Hiram W. Johnson, senator.
Sumner Increase Kimball, ex-general superintendent of United States life saving service.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

EARLY SEPTEMBER IN THE GARDEN

SEPTEMBER is the month when we again become garden conscious. We may have been away for a few weeks and on our return found the weeds flourishing, or that electrical storms have played havoc with our hollyhocks. Or, the sheer beauty of our gardens may have prompted us to further efforts.

This is the time to order any trees or shrubs for fall planting. Be sure to give your dealer a delivery date and then remember the date and be ready to begin planting as soon as the stock is delivered.

September is the month to divide the plant peonies. Planting at this time gives the peonies plenty of time to become well established before the first hard frost. Be sure when planting, to mix a handful of bone-meal with the soil around each plant and to give them plenty of water.

When dividing an old root select strong divisions with three to five eyes and set them with the topmost eye two inches below the surface.

Cease to feed your roses from now on but keep the soil well mulched.

And now for some pertinent advice about your lawns. All new lawns should be seeded by the middle of the month except in middle Canada, where the frost is early. There lawn-making must occur earlier.

This is the time to stimulate old, well-established sods to crowd out the weeds. The way to do this is to apply six pounds each of sulphate of ammonia, phosphoric acid and potash over 1000 square feet of surface. Make one application of this mixture now and two more applications in the spring.

If you are planning to add to your iris garden, do so at once. Spanish and Dutch irises may be planted now. Be sure to arrange them in clumps and set them about five inches deep, provided you choose a well-drained place in your border and provide them with some peat moss or litter for winter protection. They will not stand alternate freezing or thawing. English irises are more difficult to grow but you will succeed with even these whimsical varieties if you plant them in rich, black soil and provide them with plenty of moisture during the spring months.

Art Interprets the Mode

New York, Sept. 1.

ARE you truly "jeune fille?" I mean honestly and sparklingly young, with the clear, fresh skin and flyaway curls, and gay, bubbling laughter that is the great and special possession of youth? If so, rejoice still more, for the fashions displayed at the Paris collections were especially for you!

For you the bustles and backbows are the cutest little tricks in the world, and your slender pliancy carries many a rather trying fashion whimsy successfully. One couturier had you in mind to the exclusion of all other women when he turned to ruffles in a great big way.

The ruffles, some of them, were distinctly fluffy and floaty and graceful. Others were narrow and not very full. Always they emphasized the new mode in a very gracious and unexpected manner—being used for short peplums, epaulets, novel cuffs, collars and vestees, skirt borders, and occasionally and oh, so demurely, petticoat edges which are more imagined than seen.

'N' then necklines have become round or square, and both of these are loveliest and most effective when the face above 'em is young, soft and laughing. Sleeves in just about all the collections were long, tight and plain—that is from elbow to wrist—above the elbow lots of things were likely to happen in the way of odd trimmings or fullness from the shoulder handled in a modified dolman manner. And trimmings are so-o-o-o adorable these days—narrow bands of light fur on dark frocks and dark fur on light frocks, tabs-and-buttons, intricate drawnwork and delicate, lacy ruffles!

• • • •

A happy way to start out on a morning's pleasures, and a smart way to window shop, observing and observed, is to wear a smart lightweight tweed frock cut along lines that make it appropriate for many morning and early-autumn street occasions. See what I mean—this frock from Lucile Paray that I illustrate today is of lightweight wool tweed, in a mixture of brown, beige and red. The diagonal lines, the flaring peplum and red leather belt and the large buttons are all very new and smart ways to enhance the tweed mode.

• • • •

Wool frocks, this autumn, are bright in color and chic in line, and therefore becoming to and beloved by most women! They form a distinct contrast to the dark and somber hues of our silken frocks.

• • • •

'N' right along with new street frocks come new street accessories, which have to keep up their end of smartness and originality. And if they are like the incrusted, black suede bag and glove I sketch for you above, they've succeeded, n'est-ce pas?

• • • •

Three wishes, and you'll attain happiness—three chances, and you'll achieve success—three clever ways of wearing a costume slip and you're the proud possessor of not only one, but three stunning and, oh, so practical undies to wear beneath your autumnal frocks! 'N' I might go further and say three seconds to address your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Post for this week's illustrated leaflet giving directions for making and underskirt and camisole that combine into the aforementioned costume slip by the simple addition of a ribbon.

• • • •

And then there's Dare's weekly fashion letter in The Sunday Post. Watch for it.

Au revoir!

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

BEFORE YOU PLAY—PLAN.

IN the play of hands at a trump declaration the management of the trump suit and the establishment of cards in side suits are both questions of prime importance. As a general rule, unless small trumps in the Dummy hand are to be used for ruffing purposes it is better to draw the adverse trumps before attempting to establish tricks in the plain suits. This rule, however, is not, like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. Its application depends upon what might be called local conditions. Blind adherence to the theory of first pulling trumps would result in the defeat of the contract in the hand shown below:

The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♣	Dbl.(1)
Pass(2)	2♡(3)	Pass	4♡(4)
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Although both East's opponents are bidding and his partner was mute, East's hand is too strong to let pass without an effort to buy the contract. With hearts as trump against anything except a most freakish distribution, his hand must make 8 tricks. Even although his partner's hand is trickless so far as high cards are concerned, the slightest element of favorable distribution should give the two necessary additional tricks for game.

2—South's Opening bid has quite accurately pictured his hand. He has ½ trick in addition, but lacks adequate support for his partner's bid and his own suit is only four cards in length.

3—West holds the dreaded bust, but his hand does contain four hearts. His partner's double, in view of the opponents' spade bid, indicates probable heart strength. His two-heart response is a minimum and partner can not be deceived as to his holdings.

4—While East can not expect any honor-tricks in his partner's hand in view of the adverse bidding, he wisely decides to risk a possible set of 1 trick for the strong probability of game.

In the play, North in response to his partner's bid opens his highest spade. This was won in the Dummy with the Ace and instead of immediately pulling trumps, West decided upon the only course possible to make game. It is evident upon sight of the Dummy and Declaring hands that if trumps are drawn at once the Ace of diamonds in the Dummy will be driven out and North and South will make 1 trick in each suit and thus defeat the contract. West can only defeat this line of play by immediately establishing the club suit so that on one of the club honors he can discard a losing diamond in the closed hand. His second lead was, therefore, the club King from the Dummy and this was won by North's Ace. Now whatever course his opponents elected to follow, the contract and game were safe.

There is nothing difficult in the play of this hand, but yet it is the type of hand which is frequently misplayed by novices and occasionally by good players. It is a clear example of the necessity of formulating a plan of campaign. The time spent in a study of the Dummy and closed hand frequently results in rich dividends in the way of cashing the tricks needed for games and contracts.

TODAY'S POINTER.

When the bidding has been opened by an opponent, a purely Defensive bid can be made on less honor-trick strength than is required to open the bidding. However, even defensive bids must be based upon certain minimums of honor-trick strength in order to safeguard the defending side against staggering losses. A simple overcall of an adverse bid may be made with from 1½ to 2½ honor-tricks in the hand and a biddable suit. If an adverse suit is to be overcalled by no-trump, the hand should contain about 2½ honor tricks. If you are vulnerable, the trump suit should be stronger, particularly when it is necessary to overcall with a bid of two.

Custody of Children Not Yet Determined After Divorce.

Justice F. D. Letts signed an order restraining her from leaving the city while she has custody of the children. Her husband posted a $100 bond guaranteeing her against loss through the enjoinder.

Mrs. Wong brought suit for a limited divorce from her husband last March, and she was awarded the temporary custody of the children. The custody of the children will be definitely settled when the limited divorce suit comes up in the fall term for a hearing.

White House Learns That Grady L. Boatwright Was Married Friday.

(Associated Press.)

The marriage of Mrs. Herbert Hoover's secret service guard, Grady L. Boatwright, became known yesterday at the White House.

Boatwright, who usually precedes the President's wife on her trips out of Washington, took advantage of the usual week-end trip of the President's party to marry Miss Mabel Cravin, of Sutton, W. Va., last Friday. Not even his fellow members of the White House secret detail learned of the ceremony until today.

Born in Augusta, Ga., Boatwright has worked with the secret service for five years. For many years he worked for the Pinkerton Detective Agency in Georgia and later in Salt Lake City. He acted also, at one time, as special investigator for the president of the Union Pacific Railroad.

G. W. U. Increases Fee For Tuition 15 Per Cent

An increase of 15 per cent in all tuitions has been announced by George Washington University. The university fee has been raised from $6 to $8, and the charge for each semester hour of study has been increased from $7 to $8.

University officials said the money would be used to further the plans of the president, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, to make the school a national education center. The money will be used mainly to increase salaries of the faculty, and to create new positions. In line with this policy of improvement, plans call for extensive changes in the medical school for research work, and various increases in other departments next year.

CAPITAL AREA TRADE CONTINUES STEADY

Fifth Reserve Bank District Reports Seasonal Activity; Retailers Prosper.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Business developments in the Fifth or local Federal Reserve district in July and early August were chiefly seasonal in nature, Chairman William W. Hoxton, Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va., explains in his August report made public yesterday. Volume of trade changed little from that of other recent months.

As is customery at this time of the year, member banks in rural sections increased their borrowing at the bank to some extent, incident to early crop marketing needs and the circulation of Federal Reserve notes turned upward during the first half of August as a result of the opening of auction tobacco markets in the South Carolina belt. Member banks in the larger centers slightly decreased their outstanding loans between the middle of July and the middle of August, and their deposits also declined while they increased their investments in bonds and securities and their rediscounts at the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

The report shows that Washington department store retail trade was 2.1 per cent ahead in comparison with sales of July, 1930, and those for the first seven months of 1931 showed the same percentage of advancement over the comparable period last year. July 31, stocks were 11.3 per cent under those of the day a year ago and 10.4 per cent behind those of June 30, this year. Local stock was turned less than 1 per cent in July and 2.297 per cent since January 31, 1931. Percentage of July 1, 1931, receivables collected during that month was 31.7.

Freight Loadings Increase.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended on August 22, latest reported period, totaled 748,711 cars, the car service division of the American Railway Association announced yesterday. This was an increase of 5,975 cars above the preceding week, but a decrease of 191,847 cars below the corresponding week last year. It also was 389,255 cars under the same week two years ago.

Completion of 24-inch natural gas pipe line connecting Chicago and the Great Lake region with the gas fields of the Texas Panhandle was announced recently by the Continental Construction Corporation. This huge project, in which Cities Service, the Insull Interests, Standard of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Skelly Oil Co., Southwestern Development Co., Phillips Petroleum and Columbian Carbon Co. are jointly interested, will make available 175,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily for industrial, commercial and domestic uses. Final tests are being completed and the line is now in operation.

The line traverses six States, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois, and crosses thirteen important rivers which include the Canadian, the Arkansas, the Missouri, the Des Moines and the Mississippi.

Dollar Value Increases.

The 1926 dollar is now worth $1.53 in buying clothes, $1.38 in purchasing foods, $1.72 in paying the electric light bill, $1.29 in building a home and $2.19 in replacing the worn tires on the family car, according to the results of a survey announced by the Investors Syndicate with local offices.

This gain of more than 40 cents on the average can be employed to definite advantage by retail sales organizations, the review points out. Workers in the more stable fields of employment, such as government and municipal, telephone and public utility, now have a considerably larger surplus for buying, since a smaller part of their income is required for necessities.

Murray Takes Vacation.

H. Kenneth Murray, of the stock department of the Washington office of Hemphill, Noyes & Co., is spending his vacation with his family at Ventnor, N. J. Lawrence R. Leeby, of the same department, has resumed his duties after spending the past few weeks with relatives in North Dakota and the Middle West.

Comptroller F. P. Williams, North Capitol Savings Bank, is at Atlantic City on vacation.

Assistant Cashiers B. Gwynn Dent and H. T. Bissell, Riggs National Bank, have returned from their vacations. President Robert V. Fleming, of that institution, will return after Labor Day.

Edward C. Stone, financial editor, Washington Star, has returned from a vacation spent in Maine and Illinois.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

It is heartening to be able to chronicle that motion picture theater business from coast to coast, based upon the records of the national theater chains of major importance, has within recent weeks taken a definite upward turn. Grosses for the week ending August 15 were up from 18 to 26 per cent over the week preceding, with improved quality of pictures rather topping better weather conditions as a probable reason for the box-office bulges.

Three of the five major circuits reported gross increases as follows: Publix, 18 per cent; Warner Brothers, 22 per cent; Fox, 26 per cent. This, you will be able to determine by a simple computation, adds up and divides—or have I got my mathematical processes on crosswise, as usual?—to the reported national average of 22 per cent increase.

Increased attendance at the movies throughout the Nation no doubt plays its part in marking up the general improvement in conditions which many see fit to interpret as a barometrical indication of a corresponding industrial recovery, signalizing the gradual ebbing of this darned depression that has been banging on now since goodness knows when.

A recent survey, it seems, shows that approximately 115,000,000 persons attend pictures weekly in these United States, at an average outlay of 26 cents per capita, or a total in admissions of $30,000,000 every week.

That is, as you might say, beaucoup dough!

How much dough it is in the aggregate, however, is of less immediate import to Washington than the fact that the National Capital stands fairly in the van of the country's prospering communities, cinematographically—whew!—speaking.

As has been remarked here and elsewhere more than once of late, house attendance records are being toppled over right and left as the early days and weeks of the new season come and go.

And the end is not yet. There have been some smashing hits lately, but there are quite as many imminently in prospect as have already been written down in the book.

"An American Tragedy," "Huckleberry Finn," "Rebound" and several of the other incoming exhibits of the studios' newer product already have been discussed at more or less length between these column rules—and now comes "Waterloo Bridge," which gets us around to the topic we had intended to dwell upon briefly in the first place.

When "Waterloo Bridge" reopens the Rialto Theater on Saturday, it is a real picture you will see on the Ninth street screen.

A considerable company sat in respectful silence in one of the Hotel Mayflower's spacious salons last evening while this Universal picturization of Robert Emmett Sherwood's stage play was unreeled in all of its grim and poignant realism. In no sense is "Waterloo Bridge" a war play, save to the extent that its two pivotal characters are caught in the maelstrom of twisted emotions and warped viewpoints imposed by the ghastly horror of the world debacle. It is primarily the story of the love of these two youngsters—one a soldier on leave of absence from the front; the other a former chorus girl, now become a lady of the twilight, plying her ancient trade on the thoroughfares of London.

It is not at all my purpose to prereview "Waterloo Bridge" this far ahead of playing date, but it will not, I think, impair a later and fuller appraisal to say now that it was directed by James Whale with the same rugged frankness that made his "Journey's End" one of the screen's most vivid revelations of stark human emotions under the stress of war.

The two leads—and the essence of the drama is encompassed by the activities of this boy and girl, tossed together by chance back of the fighting line—are played by Mae Clark and Kent Douglas. There are many who think Mae Clark the most skilful delineator of character concerned in the ribaldry of the camera version of "The Front Page," and it would not be difficult to muster as many who feel that Kent Douglas was quite the most appealing figure in Joan Crawford's production of Bayard Veiller's "Within the Law." With neither group would I be inclined to foster an argument.

My only observation might be that Mae Clarke and Kent Douglas have never before been permitted to comprise virtually the sum total of so important a picture as "Waterloo Bridge." They are the picture, and upon the merit of their work must the rating of the picture be based.

If you ask me—and who would?—it rates a secure place among the topnotchers that are making this early season notable.

And the perfectly appointed dinner party that preceded the screening was a no less noteworthy tribute to the foresight and sagacity of its sponsors. The Messrs. Fiader, Collier, Wallach and their associates of Universal's local organization are to be congratulated upon having spread a horseshoe banquet board at which every place was occupied, without any of those unspanned chasms occupied only by empty chairs and plates of cooling soup, destined to moisten no spoon and festoon no facade of any early virgin vest of fall. If one felt a little gabby there was an audience at either hand to whom escape was impossible.

This, it seems to me, might be looked upon by any host as the acme of social achievement!

Speaking of "Waterloo Bridge"—and I sincerely hope I was—it may be of interest to his many friends in this city to know that the particularly effective publicity material on the picture that is finding its way to the dramatic desks of the country was prepared under the personal supervision of Frank Whitbeck, a local visitor not so long ago and a smart showman.

And as long as this seems to be a column dedicated in large measure to those who have at one time or another been associated with either Papa Carl Laemmle or Junior, you might care to know that word comes by subterranean grapevine that Charlie Raymond, formerly managing director of the Rialto, but more recently of the Great Lakes Theater, in Buffalo, N. Y., has been transferred to the Fox Theater in Philadelphia, to be operated henceforth by the Loew interests.

And—pardon the impertinence—how did you enjoy your oysters?

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Wheat was a little firmer today, despite the fact the rallies were hard to hold and the price range narrow. Trade was generally inactive. Unexpectedly small deliveries on September contracts, only 50,000 bushels, were a bullish influence. Foreign news was about a standoff, there being an extremely slow demand for wheat abroad, but crop news was more favorable. September corn showed considerable strength at times, traders being surprised at the fact that no deliveries were made on September contracts.

Wheat closed firmer, ⅛ to 1 cent above yesterday's finish; corn mixed, 1 cent down on September, and unchanged to ¼ cent up on deferred months; oats ⅛ to ½ cent higher, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents advance.

Latest information from abroad placed the 1931 wheat crop in twelve countries at 1,380,000,000 bushels, or 2,000,000 more than last year, but no allowance was made for smaller reserves of old grain this year. Liverpool prices were lower with free offerings of Danubian and Farm Board grain a factor. The Farm Board was said to have made sales abroad 1½ cents a bushel lower than its offerings yesterday. An unofficial estimate placed the United States spring wheat crop this year at 118,000,000 bushels, the same as the government figures a month ago.

September corn started with a show of strength, as much as 1⅞ cents a bushel higher, but news that no deliveries had been made sent shorts to cover and prices reacted. Buying demand was easily satisfied. Deferred months showed little strength, heavy rains in the Middle West tending to restrict buying.

GOOD ROADS LEADING TO WOODLAND BEACH

Value of River Lots Due to Rise When New Bridge Is Completed.

Everybody likes to buy into a proposition where constant improvements are being made, rather than into anything which is being allowed to deteriorate.

That is why Woodland Beach, the Washington Post's summer home development on South River in Maryland, is proving so popular among Capital residents. Improvements have been made there and others are planned for the immediate future.

First of all, Woodland Beach, in the short space of a few months, has grown from a practical wilderness into a thriving colony of handsome cottages, the number of which is constantly increasing.

Good roads lead to the Beach and the State of Maryland, within a short time, will erect an immense new concrete bridge across the South River to replace the present delapidated wooden structure. This bridge will cost $750,000 and its erection is expected to increase the value of property all along the river.

You, too, may enjoy all the benefits of Woodland Beach at a very small cost. The price of lots there is $93, but even this reasonable price is not demanded in cash. A down payment of $9, together with the cost of a subscription to the Washington Post, will enable you to make a selection and go ahead with your plans for a summer home.

Take a trip to Woodland Beach at your next opportunity. See the progress that has been made since spring. You will marvel at it and you will want to be a part of such a rapidly growing community. There are still some choice locations available, but you must hurry to secure one.

Picture Exhibitors Protest Star's Pay

$30,000 Weekly Paid to Constance Bennett Draws Attack.

New York, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—Bluntly declaring that "no talent or ability" is worth $30,000 a week, the salary paid to Constance Bennett, representatives of 14,000 motion picture exhibitors met today at the Astor Hotel to launch their campaign to "deflate" Hollywood. The industry, they said, is facing the greatest crisis in the 30 years of its existence.

David Barrist, Philadelphia theater owner and a leader in the movement, centered his attack on the "star system" in force in Hollywood. In criticizing Warner Brothers for paying $30,000 weekly to Miss Bennett, he called attention to the fact that the company is unable to pay dividends.

The meeting was called to protest against a 10 per cent price increase by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and was attended by representatives from eastern Pennsylvania southern New Jersey and Delaware.

WISCONSIN AVENUE IMPROVING SOUGHT

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Improvement of Wisconsin avenue from Georgetown pike to the District line, extension of Massachusetts avenue into Montgomery County and paving of the street railway tracks on Connecticut avenue to Chevy Chase Lake was recommended to the Maryland State Roads Commission yesterday in a resolution adopted by the Montgomery County (Md.) Commissioners.

The three recommendations probably will be acted upon today by the Maryland State Roads Commission at its meeting in Baltimore, according to Maj. E. Brooke Lee, roads commissioner.

The county commissioners recommend the Wisconsin avenue improvement to include paving of the railway right of way and removal of the trolley poles to the sidewalk, with additional paving to equalize the grade and width of the roadway on each side of the car tracks. The board announced plans to construct sidewalks and curbs on both sides of Wisconsin avenue from Bradley lane to the District line through front foot benefit assessments soon after completion of the roadwork. The section of widening which is urged will hook up with already authorized widening of Rockville pike from Bethesda to Rockville.

The county commissioners agreed to pay the first $100,000 of construction from the proceeds of the 1931 and 1932 county road bond issues and ask that the balance be paid from allocation of State funds to the county for road purposes. They ask that the work be coordinated with the National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission plans for a small center oval at the District line, which is to be known as the Wisconsin Avenue Portal to the National Capital.

Extension of Massachusetts avenue into Montgomery County is recommended as is construction of an underpass at the Baltimore & Ohio tracks about 1 mile from the District line, for which the commissioners have allocated $150,000 of the western suburban district issue of road bonds for 1931-32. About 1 mile of the extension paving is recommended for this year in addition to the underpass.

The balance of the $150,000 is to be spent on extending the 20-foot concrete paving west to Minnehaha branch and the remainder in building two extensions, first, northwest to River road, and second, southwest to the Glen Echo-Cabin John Park section, both of which are to be paved 20 feet wide.

The commissioners also have available funds for paving the car tracks in the center of Connecticut avenue through the northern section of Chevy Chase. The commissioners ask the cooperation of the engineering force of the roads commission with the county engineering department. The work is to be carried on north from Bradley Lane to Chevy Chase Lake.

Woman Unconscious After Maryland Arrest

Three doctors were called to the Marlboro Jail yesterday to treat a young woman who lost consciousness after being arrested for investigation. She regained consciousness after several hours and gave the name of Mary Nicholson, of Washington.

The woman, who is about 25 years old, was found wandering in the woods near Forestville, Md., by Policeman G. William Gray. She apparently had spent the night in the woods. She told police yesterday she had gone into Maryland with a man she refused to name and that she remembered nothing after having several drinks.

Premiums Held Up On Rockville Fair

Betting Committee Named in Desperate Fight to Preserve Feature.

Premiums for the seventy-eighth annual Rockville Fair, which closed two weeks ago with a deficit will not be paid, the board of directors of the fair association decided at a meeting last night in the farm bureau office at Rockville, Md. The directors also authorized the placing of an additional mortgage of $3,000 on the fair grounds to pay expenses of the fair.

A committee consisting of J. D. King, Thomas I. Fulks and Otho C. Trundle was appointed to canvass the possibilities of securing permission to operate pari mutuel betting at the fair. The board decided after lengthy discussion that this would be the only thing that could prove the salvation of the fair, which has been a part of county life for 78 years. Failing to secure permission, it is probable that the fair grounds will be sold to pay off the $20,000 debt now standing against them, it was said.

The directors said they had added many attractions and a varied program in an effort to save the fair from loss by attracting the crowds but that this had failed in its purpose. The present board can not decide whether or not a fair will be held next year as a new board is to be elected in December which would have control of the future fair dates.

Paralyzed at Wedding, Divorce Plaintiff Says

The circuit court of Prince Georges annulling the marriage of Delbert E. Libby, former assistant librarian in the House of Representatives, to Irene Libby. Libby claimed that he was married while not in full possession of his faculties, due to illness, and that he was partially paralyzed at the time. He also claimed that the woman had wasted his money since their marriage, and had then left him.

A petition for absolute divorce was also filed by Harold E. Hunter, who claims that his wife, Lillian, was unfaithful to him after 22 years of married life.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST. Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With the opening of St. Charles Catholic School in Clarendon on Tuesday, September 8, and the opening of the county public schools on Monday, September 14, Sheriff Howard B. Fields, conforming to his usual program, announced the assignment of officers to the respective school buildings on the mornings of opening.

Records show that during the past eight years there has not been one accident at the schools during opening, recess or closing hours. Sheriff Fields yesterday notified all officers that all persons violating the county speed laws in passing the school buildings should be made to appear in court.

Mrs. Mayme Smith, of Lyon Village, Arlington County, who was the first woman of the county ever to announce herself as a candidate for office, last night announced that she has withdrawn from the race for membership on the county board of five which, after January 1, 1932, replaces the present three members of the county board of supervisors.

In announcing her withdrawal, Mrs. Smith says, she does so in favor of Mrs. Elizabeth B. McGruder, of Clarendon.

"I have given the matter serious consideration and feel that by staying in the race I would take from Mrs. McGruder the votes I feel by my withdrawing will make her election possible and I trust that all those who have pledged me their support will do as I am doing and give their united support to Mrs. McGruder," Mrs. Smith said.

With but two days remaining in which persons may qualify with the county clerk as candidates for county offices the movement started on Monday by Capt. Crandal Mackey to announce three women as candidates for the county board of supervisors on the grounds that the act of the General Assembly providing for the new county form of government is unconstitutional revealed that one of the three candidates is unqualified to file as a candidate for any county office.

According to the State constitution, Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers, who is now registrar for Ballston Precinct, is not qualified to become a candidate for any county office. The constitution reads:

"No person who acts as registrar shall be eligible to an office to be filled by election by the people at the election to be held next after he has so acted as registrar."

W. R. Rose, Republican candidate for membership on the county board of five and who is a member of the county electoral board, announced last night that he has submitted his resignation to Judge Walter T. McCarthy of the Circuit Court of Arlington County.

The court declared that there was no evidence of criminal negligence. Coroner T. Marshall Jones, following an inquest, had already held that the accident was unavoidable.

Montgomery Commissioners Authorize Issuance of Certificates.

Issuance of certificates of indebtedness totaling $200,000 to refund the public school deficit for 1929 to 1931 and other county deficits was authorized yesterday by the Montgomery County, Md., commissioners. The certificates are issued under the authority of the statute creating the emergency fund of $200,000.

Deficits in the school operating fund for the school years 1929-1930 and 1930-1931 amounting to $93,000 will be paid from proceeds of the certificates. The deficit was caused by expenses exceeding the amount asked for in the levy by the county board of education. A sufficiently large sum has been levied this year to care for the school expenses without creation of a deficit.

The remaining $107,000 will be devoted to funding the deficit in the contingent fund. The county commissioners stated that with this refunding all county funds will stand in proper balance. The certificates are to draw interest at the rate of 4 per cent and are to be redeemed either by a long term bond issue to be authorized by the State Legislature or direct inclusion in the annual levy.

Man and Wife Arrested In Montgomery Raid

Montgomery County police last night raided the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Penn, on Wilson lane near River road, and captured approximately 120 gallons of alleged liquor. The couple was arrested and charged with possession of intoxicating liquor with intent to sell. They were released on $1,000 bond each for appearance in county police court September 14.

The raid was led by Corpl. Oscar Gaither, accompanied by Policemen Thomas DeNell and Theodore Vollten. Mrs. Penn was at home and readily admitted the raiders. After she had been taken to the Bethesda substation, Policeman Roy Davis went to the house and arrested her husband, who had returned home after the raid.

Montgomery Will Spend $1,000 on Road Survey

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday authorized the expenditure of $1,000 for the county's share in the survey of regional highways in Greater Washington area to be made by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. The money is to be paid out of the premium received on the sale of general road improvement bonds recently.

The District of Columbia, Prince Georges County, Md., Arlington and Fairfax Counties, Va., and Alexandria, Va., are expected to participate in paying for the survey, which will be the basis of a master plan for coordinating regional highways of the area.

Egg Production Speeded At Contest in Maryland

Production was speeded up slightly by the 860 birds competing in the sixth annual egg laying contest conducted by the Maryland Experiment Station, it was announced yesterday. A total of 2,829 eggs was produced, which is a gain of 38 eggs over the previous week.

Top honors for the week went to the Confidence Farm Pen, Anacostia, D. C., with 55 eggs. This pen has been setting a fast pace the last four weeks and has a formidable margin over its nearest rival. By laying 52 eggs, the Ben W. Jacobs entry, from Waynesburg, Pa., took second place, and 51 eggs brought third place to the Joachin Breeding Farm Pen from Riverton, N. J. All leaders are of the Leghorn breed.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

FATS AND HOT-WEATHER DIETS.

A SOMETHING within us makes fats and greases distasteful in hot weather. On the other hand, when man goes into regions of extreme cold he finds that he can eat fats almost like a native.

We know that fat contains almost twice as many calories, pound for pound, when compared with starchy foods. This holds true for sweets and lean meats as well. A man eating an ounce of fat meat would get more than twice the energy or heat from it than he would get from a like amount of sugar or lean roast beef. The fact that fats and greases are so readily burned to make heat is enough reason for excluding them from the hot-weather diet.

Drs. Klinger, Geiger and Mueller offer an additional reason for not eating these foods in summer time. When the diet of young rats included 20 to 35 per cent olive oil it was found the animals stopped growing, the coats became rough and there were other indications that they were not thriving. They lost their appetites and presently began to lose weight. The symptoms were those of a deficiency in vitamins. While this condition sometimes developed at other seasons, it was especially manifest when the air was hot and the humidity was low.

The investigators found that they could overcome some of the effects of too much fat in the diet by giving some food rich in vitamin B. The one they used was yeast. One of their conclusions was that giving food overly rich in olive oil in hot weather produced a degree of vitamin starvation which was contributed to by the effects of heat.

They agree with Arnold that heating the skin unduly changes the circulation of blood in the upper part of the digestive tract. This serves to lower the antiseptic powers of the stomach and the tract which continues from it. Bacteria taken in with food and drink, ordinarily killed by the juices of this region, survive and stand some chance of causing infection when they get into more favorable territory. In this way hot weather increases the danger of infection with typhoid and diarrhea microrbes.

Dr. Klinger and his associates think it also causes a diet too rich in olive oil to destroy vitamins, or to make the system need more of them than the food ordinarily supplies. The vitamin shortage causes appetite to fail and growth to stop.

RUM RUNNERS' GAS.

Mrs. J. M. K. writes: Please explain toxic gas used by rum runners. The public was warned against this gas today over the radio. I did not get all the speaker said. I think it was called toxic gas and it affected the eyes. Just how does it affect the eyes and is it used?

REPLY.

This gas is related to one of the tear gases used during the World War. These gases are more irritating than poisonous. They disable you and stop you by making the eyes water and causing membranes to burn. They strangle.

Gases of this group are heavy. They do not disperse readily. They settle in pockets and they are absorbed by various substances, causing them to irritate.

PRURITUS MEANS "ITCHING."

M. L. M. writes: What are the symptoms, cause and treatment of pruritus?

REPLY.

Pruritus is a symptom and nothing more. It means "itching." When the word is used as though it meant a disease it is combined with some other word. Examples are: Pruritus senilis, the itching to which old people are subject; pruritus diabeticus, the itching of diabetes; pruritus auris, itching of the ear. Since it is a symptom present in many diseases the causes must vary. A direct cause of some of the cases is supposed to be an excess in the tissues of a chemical called histamme. One theory is that pressure on the nerve ending in the skin is another direct cause.

Of course, treatment also varies. Calcium gluconate has a place in the treatment of some cases. Extract of spleen has a place in the treatment of others. Tanning the skin by light is curative for some cases. Cleanliness cures others. Treatment of the underlying disorder has a place, of course. Itching in old people is benefited by the free use of grease on the skin. This applies to salves advertised as cures and others not so advertised. Some cases are cured by staying in fog and moist air.

Johnny Doeg has written a book on tennis . . . At the rate he is being beaten in the big tournaments he ought to take a couple of days off and read it . . . This column has noted before that he's been leading a Doeg's life . . . And Lou Gehrig has completed his 1,000th consecutive game . . . Would you call him 'one grand' ball player? . . . And he's passed Babe Ruth in the home run derby . . . But the Babe is a grand stretch runner . . . Joe Engel once traded a Chattanooga shortstop for a Christmas Turkey . . . Which recalls that Griffith gave Goslin to the Browns for Crowder and Manush . . . and Phil Ball wants to know who's looney now? . . . Twenty Grand and Sun Beau meet at Saratoga Saturday . . . The Athletics have had their full strength in exactly one fourth of their games And will win the pennant by at least fifteen games . . . That's some kind of a record . . . Remember when the Yankees went into the 1928 world series so badly crippled it didn't seem fair? . . . And they cleaned up the Cardinals in four straight games . . . With Ruth barely able to reach first on a clean triple . . . But he solved the situation in the last game at St. Louis . . . By hitting three home runs out of the park . . . When he slammed his six hundredth homer the other day it represented 27 miles around the bases on circuit clouts alone . . . Jimmy Foxx is winning Ruth's title as the strikeout king . . . He's welcome to it, says the Babe . . . But Ruth puts more kick in a strikeout than Foxx does in a homer . . . It's not what you do but how you do it . . . Walberg Bows to 13-Hit Attack as Cronin Slams 12th Home Run of Year

Jones Scatters Ten Hits to Coast to Easy Victory.

Special to The Washington Post.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 1.—Though it seemed a trifle belated in the pennant scheme of things, the Nats gave Rube Walberg and the rest of the proud Philadelphia Athletics a sound lambasting here in their own backyard this afternoon. They slapped out thirteen hits in winning the first encounter of a two-game series by a score of 5 runs to 1.

The Washington hitters collaborated with Sam Jones, the lachrymosal one, in subduing the Mackmen before their worshipers. Jones rendered the Athletics' ten hits well nigh useless whilst his supporting cast cinched the decision with two runs in the first inning, one in the third and a second pair in the sixth.

Thirteen hits rang off the Griffian bats during the melee, Buddy Myer leading with three and all hands making at least one hit save Ossie Bluege. The longest blow of the pastime, however, was a homer Joe Cronin hit into the left field stands with the bases nude in the third.

Myer Opens With Single.

A bit later West cuffed a one-ply drive to center, scoring Manush and sending Harris to third. After Bluege had two strikes on him, West set out from first on a steal and slid safely into second as Harris thundered up the line to home.

To this lead of 2-0 the Griffs added another run in the third on Joe Cronin's well-slammed home run into the upper tier of the left field stands.

Meanwhile, Sad Sam Jones was goose-egging the champions and making them like it. He held the Macks to three scattered singles over the first four innings, striking out Foxx, Miller and Bishop in that span of the fracas.

The Athletics nicked the plate with an orphan tally in the fifth on singles by Williams and Walberg, a pass to Bishop and Cramer's infield out. Jones ended this inning by fanning Moore with the bases filled.

Kuhel Starts Off Rally.

But this run of the Mackmen was taken back with one to spare in the sixth, which opened with Joe Kuhel lining a single over Bishop's head Spencer followed with an infield single and after Jones advanced both runners with a sacrifice, Myer propelled them homeward by blasting a single to the middle pasture.

With that hit, the scoring ended for the day, Jones, though he was solved for five hits in the last three innings, including two in the sixth and seventh, didn't permit them until two were out and had no trouble in retiring the next batsman.

The Athletics only had five regulars in the line-up today—Bishop, Cochrane, Foxx, Miller and Dykes—but expect to send the same line-up against the St. Louis Cardinals in October that won the world's title last year.

This Shibe Park is all to Joe Cronin's liking. Joe has always hit the ball hard here. His homer in the third inning dropped into the upper stands.

Previous to this afternoon Rube Walberg had split even in four turns in the box against the Nats, his record reading one win and a loss both here and at Griffith Stadium.

Jones fanned Foxx and Miller in succession in the second inning and in the third turned Max Bishop back the same way.

HAPPY SAM JONES

By BILL KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The storm-tossed national doubles tennis tournament, five days overdue, today was steered into its championship berth by an experienced crew, including last year's runner-up.

Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, defeated in last year's final by Johnny Doeg and George M. Lott, had an easy time reaching port. They overwhelmed Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, and Bruce Barnes, Austin, Tex., where Allison resides, in straight sets 6—4, 6—0, 6—3, the most decisive victory they have scored during the tourney.

The other finalists, Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Berkley Bell, New York, seeded fourth and just below the other successful team, had the battle of their careers in downing Sidney Wood and Frank X. Shields, United States Davis Cup stars, 6—3, 4—6, 6—4, 3—6, 10—8.

Barnes and Sutter, out of competition since last Thursday, appeared stale against their crack rivals, who indicated early that they were in top form. Barnes' terrific forehand was out of control when play started and it later became so wild that his usually accurate service was broken four times. Sutter's racquet contained nothing to offset this handicap.

Wood and Shields yesterday eliminated the defending champions, Lott and Doeg. They divided the first four sets with their opponents today and the fifth set ran on until the eighteenth game when Shields weakened enough to net twice and get behind by love-30. Mangin put a backhander into the net but Wood miscued and gave the opposition match point. Mangin's driving placement at Shields was the winning stroke.

Vines Defeated by Hughes In International Matches

Germantown, Pa., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Ellsworth Vines, brightest of America's young tennis players, bowed before Frederick Perry, England's No. 1 competitor, 6—3, 7—5 in the opening play of the three-day international tennis matches today.

Hughes took the measure of Marcel Bernard, the 19-year-old French boy, 6—4, 6—0, and after Perry's triumph over Vines, the British pair disposed of the French doubles team of Jacques Brugnon and Christian Boussus, 6—3, 6—2.

Vines, apparently threw point after point to the 21-year-old Englishman he defeated so spectacularly in the finals at Newport, R. I., ten days ago. Although Vines seemed off his game, it was he who supplied the flashes of genius. At times his brilliant backhand cross-court placements caught Perry flat-footed.

Tomorrow Johnny Doeg, United States national champion, meets Marcel Bernard, of France, in the first singles match, while Perry encounters Andre Merlin. The doubles bring together George Lott and Doeg, former United States doubles champions and Boussus and Brugnon.

Dean Most Valuable Player in Texas Loop

Houston, Tex., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Dizzy Dean, eccentric pitcher who was sent back to Houston this year by the St. Louis Cardinals, has been chosen the most valuable player in the Texas League. The selection was made by sports writers.

Dean has won 25 games for Houston and has 273 strikeouts to his credit. His brilliant hurling is expected to be a feature of the annual Dixie series. Houston has the Texas League championship virtually won and is expected to play Birmingham, the Southern Association leader, in the Southern classic.

Sekyra Beats Retzlaff in 10 Rounds

10,000 See Smaller Fighter Take Lead Early in Bout.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Joe Sekyra, clever Dayton, Ohio heavyweight, gave Charley Retzlaff the first setback of his Eastern campaign tonight when he outpointed the Duluth slugger in their ten-round bout at the Queensboro Stadium. Sekyra was outweighed nearly 20 pounds, scaling 176 to Retzlaff's 193½.

Nearly 10,000 fans saw the Dayton boxer outbox his rival and come very close to outslugging him when he risked trading wallops. After chopping him badly in the early rounds with hard right-hand wallops that usually found their mark, Sekyra floored Retzlaff for a count of eight in the seventh. The Duluth slugger was hanging on the ropes when the bell halted Sekyra's attack.

Sekyra Takes Early Lead.

The Ohioan took things easy through the middle of the fight, outboxing his rival without much trouble. Retzlaff did not make another rally until the eighth when he slugged his hardest to take one of the few rounds he could win. The Minnesota boy's powerful right-hand wallops did not trouble Sekyra seriously and after piling up a comfortable margin as his seventh-round spurt brought a near knockout, he coasted through to the end.

Natie Brown, California heavyweight, knocked out Pavisi Presidio of Italy after 2 inutes 4 seconds of fighting in the sixth round of the semifinal, scheduled to go eight rounds. Brown weighed 180½, Presidio 183½.

Mrs. Douglas Tschiffely and Mrs. Richard Sutton carried all honors in the second foursome, while Mrs. J. E. GEHRIG STAR AS YANKS WIN TWO

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Lou Gehrig went on another hitting rampage today as the New York Yankees turned back the Boston Red Sox twice in a doubleheader, 11 to 3 and 5 to 1.

Gehrig pounded out his thirty-ninth home run in the opening contest, and then added his fortieth in the nightcap to go three up on Babe Ruth. The two circuit drives also ran Lou's record to six home runs in as many consecutive games. The fortieth homer was hit with the bases loaded and was the third in four days that the Yankees' first baseman has delivered with all the sacks occupied.

In the opener Vernon Gomez sailed along to turn in his seventeenth victory of the season, while Charley Ruffing held the Sox to six hits in the second contest. Babe Ruth hit three singles and was given two walks in the first game, but he failed to hit safely in the nightcap.

Talkies Help Mills Open G. U. Camp

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Head Coach Tommy Mills had his bevy ob football Adonises on location for the first workout within a stone's throw of a raging bay that was throwing lots of water on the beach, but the movie men took over the situation for a full hour and a half. He knew his stuff, did that cameraman, and with faultless direction he sent the squad through the paces.

Thirty-eight varsity hopefuls reported for the first workout with a dozen more yet to be accounted for but expected within the next twenty-four hours. They did not gambol on the beach. They worked as the cameraman shouted his orders and Coach Mills sent the command down the line. They did everything but jump through the hoop.

Movies Are Scoop On Penn, Temple.

It was a scoop. With Pennsylvania and Temple training on the nearby Jersey coast, Georgetown got in it's camera licks first for the edification of the movie-going public. Coach Mills, who has graced the legitimate stage himself during a career that has included law, football, and drama, gave the boys an inspiring spiel for the microphone.

It ran thus: "Well, boys, you're certainly looking fine and I'm glad to see you all here. And if you take this work seriously we have fine prospects for a good season. We've scheduled a lot of tough games, teams that other schools have shied away from, and we've got to take this seriously. You're not down here on any vacation. This football is a job these days. There are lots of things I want to tell you about. I want to tell you some of the things I want you to do, and some of the things I don't want you to do."

Click—the movie man called a halt just as Mills was warming up to his subject. But the talk ought to go over big on the silver screen.

The boys put on the calisthenics act that Rockne made famous at Notre Dame and which was transplanted by Mills his former assistant, at Georgetown. They went through five or six honest-to-goodness scrimmage plays with tackling and everything. They punted and they placekicked. They stood on their heads. They were putting at the finish.

No Acting as Mills Takes Boys Aside.

But Mills did not let it go at that. When the movie men at last gathered up their miscellaneous paraphernalia, Mills took the entire squad to the privacy of the Rehoboth golf course and sent them through the paces for another hour and a half. He gave them another speech and he wasn't acting this time. You know what he said? The same thing coaches have been saying at the opening workouts since the early 80s.

Mills' full corps of assistants is here. Colrick, Leahy and Kerjes. All former Notre Dame men. Mills implanted the Notre Dame system last season and looks for better results in its second year. There are no notable absentees at the camp here with the exception of Whitey Dashiell, star freshman half back of last year, who has announced that he will not return to school.

Any thoughts by the lads that they are on a three weeks vacation here was dispelled by Mills this afternoon when he announced that workouts would be held every morning and afternoon. When the boys finish their three meals a day with two two-hour workouts under a driving coaching staff sandwiched between, they will not be looking for any diversions here.

Judge Landis Victim Of Tailor Shop Thief

Boston, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, dispenser of justice in the realm of baseball, casts his vote for two pants suits. A thief broke into a downtown tailor shop last night and among other garments, walked off with a pair of the judge's trousers.

The commissioner was not confined to his hotel room while police sought the culprit, but he did welcome their return early today, while the thief appeared in court.

CAPITAL TRIO LOSE OUT IN AMATEUR

Mackenzie Is Leader With 161; Shorey, Bones Fail.

Special to the Washington Post.

BEVERLY HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, Chicago, Sept. 1.—Roland Mackenzie, of Washington, led his fellow Washington golfers in the totals for the 36-hole qualifying round which ended here today with 161, a probable four strokes over the low qualifying score.

George Voigt, former Washington star, now representing New York, and Maurice McCarthy, former Georgetown University golf leader, were among the qualifiers. Voigt scored a 78—77—155 and McCarthy, 76—80—156.

Had not Mackenzie run into trouble on his last nine today he would no doubt have qualified for the medal play for the amateur crown beginning tomorrow.

On his first hole going out he got off to a bad start, three putting for a six, two over a par 4. He settled down on the last five holes, however, to equal par and go out in 40.

On the way home he again got into trouble on the fourteenth, driving into the trees along the fairway to get to the green in five where he two-putted for a seven, three over par. He was in in 42 to total an 82 for the day.

Shorey Shoots 77 On Last Round.

Shorey, the Kenwood Country Club, Maryland, completed his last eighteen holes for the best score taking a 77 for the rounds to total 163 for the 36 holes. Had he played yesterday

MORDROM WINS OPENING DAY FEATURE RACE AT MARLBORO

6,000 Watch 10-to-1 Shot Triumph

Special to The Washington Post.

MARLBORO, Md., Sept. 1.—The Southern Maryland Agricultural Fair Association, which had the honor of opening the second lap of Maryland's fall racing season today, played host to 6,000, who saw the Tennessee Stable's Mordrom run off with the 6½-furlong feature, listed as the fourth event.

Held at 10 to 1 in the wagering, the 5-year-old chestnut son of Movich and Dromore ran like a 1-to-10 shot, for he broke on top, and with Joie Guerra urging him on every step of the distance, easily won by a length from James C. Cremen's Fourth Ward. Third money went to A. B. Berger, Jr.'s Stylish Mack.

The feature was a sad blow to the majority of the fans, who had pinned their hopes in Ima Queen and Five Oaks, but neither miss showed any inclination to run and were far back of the money horses when the finish line was reached.

The big crowd, the majority of them Washingtonians, voted this remodeled plant one of the best in the State. Too much credit for the improvements can not be given General Manager Joseph B. Boyle and Assistant Manager Thomas Kirby Lynch, while the same holds good for the improved racing strip, which was the work of Track Supt. Dick Pending.

Long-shot players had their innings when they opened the meeting by putting over Stepping Sister at odds of 44 to 1, and then after Benish Way, the favorite, had won the second race, they came back with Grey Bell, at 25 to 1, and took down the feature with Mordrom, at 10 to 1.

F. Sargent, leading winning rider during last week's racing at Cumberland, flashed a powerful finish to have Mrs. E. Hemphill's Bye and Bye nose in advance of A. Mazzao's Fair Dawn, the fatvorite, in the mile and one-sixteenth of the sixth.

Away last, Sargent let Bye and Bye settle into his stride, and after going a half went around his field, and, once straightened out in the home stretch, went to the bat, and the gelding ran as if possessed to collar Fair Dawn right on the wire. Third money went to R. L. Utterback's Torrence.

—Lincoln Fields Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

LINCOLN FIELDS RACE TRACK, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 1.—A well-balanced program which features the South Shore Country Club Handicap, will be offered the patrons of the sport at Lincoln Fields tomorrow. The headliner carries a purse value of $1,600 and will be decided over the 6-furlong sprint distance. A select field of six speedsters have accepted the issue, and, under the weight assignment, should produce a spirited contest.

Of those named to start in the handicap, fourth on the card, MALOLO, a consistent Dis Donc gelding, from the Blue Star Stable, appears nicely suited by the conditions, and is favored to annex his third successive event at this track. Although the strip is in slow condition, MALOLO has demonstrated his ability to negotiate an off track and has only MY DANDY to beat for the major award. The latter has the most early foot and with a 5-pound pull in the weights will prove a dangerous contender.

FIRST RACE—BRIGHT BEAUTY appears best of the large field of maiden juvenile fillies which will contest the 6-furlong dash of the opener. The Grayson racer showed a splendid effort last start and figures to improve enough to graduate from this field.

SECOND RACE—A limit field of oldsters will match strides in the 7-furlong dash of the second, with GUIDE RIGHT, a steady plater from the Mrs. Pollard string, on his recent second to Infinity, favored to annex the purse. NIFTY has several fast races to his credit and should offer the opposition.

THIRD RACE—The Audley Farm's highly regarded FRENCH HONEY should show the way to her twelve rivals in the 6 furlongs of the third. The Epinard filly scored easily in her last and against the same class figures to duplicate. I SAY has shown steady improvement and is given the place call, with FIFTH RACE—A clever group of 3-year-old routers will be dispatched over the mile-and-a-sixteenth distance in the fifth. LADY DEAN, a clever winner of her last, is picked to lead her seven rivals to the wire. LADY EBONY was forced to overcome interference last start and then finished second. With better racing luck, she should be close up.

SIXTH RACE—SEARINGTON has the speed of his five rivals in the 9-furlong gallop of the sixth and on his splendid victory last outing must be given the call. CAIUS has turned in some clever performances in recent races and will be a factor throughout.

SEVENTH RACE—In the final mile-and-a-sixteenth test, a large group of platers will contest the issue. ANNAN, a steady router from the C. E. Davison string, appears well suited by the conditions and should score. COPPERFIELD may falter at the route, but should last to gain the place award.

MAISAN, away slowly and badly outrun to the final three-eighths, worked her way up steadily on the inside thereafter and, getting to the front, continued well under strong urging. ABDEL WINS HAWTHORNE FEATURE

Charlie Corbett shot Abdel into the lead of the 6-furlong event and held him there unto the stretch. Voltagreen, which had run right at Abdel's heels, took the lead as they started for home, but ran wide and Abdel came back to win by a head, with Infinity third. The time was 1:15 1-5 over a slow track, and Abdel, outsider in the wagering, paid $11.82 for $2 to win.

Saratoga Springs Race Track, N. Y., Sept. 1 (A.P.).—J. E. Widener's 4-year-old gelding, Mr. Sponge, finally ran to his last year's form and came within two-fifths of a second of the track record for one mile in winning the Delaware Handicap here this afternoon. The son of Luke McLuke—Black Brocade covered the eight furlongs in 1:36 3-5 over a fast track. This is the fastest mile of the meeting.

It was an easy triumph, with J. J. Curtis' Flying Heels, winner of this fixture in 1930, three lengths off the winner.

STEPPING SISTER was kept right atop the pace until straightened out in the stretch, where she closed very fast to win on the wire. JACKSTAFF, quickest to find his stride, saved ground at every turn, but faltered in the stretch and just missed. He should improve off this race. TRIPLE THREAT, away slowly, was taken the outside and route and was running fast in the center of the track at the end. JANE ELLEN showed a flash of speed, but quit to a walk last half.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BENISH WAY, $3.20, $2.80, $2.50; SIR WRACK, $9.80, $5.30; MUSKODAY, $4.60.

BENISH WAY, much the best, rushed to the lead at the first turn and, saving ground thereafter, easily outlasted SIR WRACK. The latter, well up from the start, was next best. MUSKODAY, off slowly, went around his field swinging for home and closed with a rush on the outside. BONNIE LADDIE showed his usual early foot, but chucked it up when passed by BENISH WAY.

THIRD RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $500; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:15. Off at 3:17. Winner, Mrs. M. R. Waugh's ch. f. GREY BELLE followed the pace right down to the wire, where she nipped MERICHAR, the early pacemaker. Latter tired suddenly after appearing the winner turning for home. MAID OF THE VALLEY ran a dull race and can do better. NUMBER THREE ran out at the second turn and was pulled up.

FOURTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $600; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:51. Off at 3:52. MORDROM broke on top and and led every foot of the way. FOURTH WARD, close up from the start, was gaining on the winner at the end. STYLISH MACK, used up chasing the winner, faltered in the stretch. IMA QUEEN and FIVE OAKS ran far below their true form and are worth remembering.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $600; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:24 Off at 4:25. Winner, Mrs. J. JORICO, after being taken the overland route and slipping through on the rail turning for home, got up in time to take third place from MISS MAC. Latter showed early foot, but tired as if short.

CONSTRUCTIONEERS BEAT COMMERCE

Usilton Hero Of 8-to-1 Victory

Taylor Is Victim of 7-Run Attack in 5th Inning.

Departmental Color-Bearers Have 9 Left on Base.

A FIFTH-INNING full of sizzling singles and miscues on the part of the eventual losers, yesterday gave Constructioneers, winners of the Industrial League, a decisive 8-0 victory over Commerce, winners of the Departmental League, in the first game of the annual series to decide the week-day champions of Washington.

A brilliant pitching battle, between Usilton, of Constructioneers, and Taylor, of the losing combination, went by the boards as the big bats of Booker, Bowie and Jewett beat a tattoo in the fifth inning to send seven runners across the plate. Taylor aided in his team's downfall by walking Hamel, Aut, and hitting Jenkins, acts which proved demoralizing to the rest of the team, insofar as Povich, third sacker, committed a harmful error and Lewis, catcher, hit a runner in a peg to second.

Nine Commerce runners died on the bags, as their colleagues fanned the air, or popped weakly, in the pinches. Commerce threatened in nearly every inning. In the third Shapiro and Wells singled with one out, only to be stranded. Lewis and O'Donnell were on base in the fourth, with two out, and were left, and two clean hits in the ninth failed to place a Commerce man past second.

Usilton Master Throughout.

The consistency of Usilton, Constructioneer pitcher, was perhaps the deciding feature of the game. He would have won without the hilarious fifth inning, for he never wavered once throughout the nine innings, allowing six hits and striking out three, while Taylor and later Kearney was being touched for ten hits and four free passes.

Batting honors were garnered by Booker, Hamel and Bowie, of the winners, and Shapiro, of the losers. Booker won individual honors among the sluggers by hitting safely thrice in four trips to the platter. Two of Booker's hits came in the fifth inning. The other was a double.

The teams were evenly divided in defense, both being charged with four miscues. The fifth inning hardly seemed a part of an otherwise hotly contested battle.

Skinker Eagles Beat D. C. Firemen, 8 to 0

Successfully withholding the attempt of the District of Columbia Fire Department nine to send players across the plate, on the tail end of their eight hits, Skinker Bros. Eagles, with Ray Davidson in the pitcher's box, yesterday trimmed the Fire Eaters, 8 to 0, in a well-played game on the South Ellipse.

A batting spree hit the Eagles in the first session as doubles by "Bozey" Berger and Bucky Buscher, Maryland University stars, and a single by Taylor accounted for four runs. The remaining scoring done by the Eagles was concentrated in the fifth inning, when Charley Dingler slammed a home run with Berger and Buscher loping home ahead of him.

ROBERT "CHIEF" COY already held the marathon golf record when he started out on his 302-hole jaunt, but Coy doesn't wait for someone to come along and break his records—he breaks them himself. Last year he played 261 holes of golf in a single day in Springfield, Ill. This year, playing in his bare feet and using only one club—a midiron—throughout, he broke his old record by 41 holes.

Coy started at 3:30 in the morning and finished at 7:50 that evening, having driven a ball over 107,300 yards and walked 61 miles during the day. Some of the early morning rounds of nine hole were completed in 15 minutes! Outside of a blistered hand and a bad case of sunburn, "Chief" suffered no ill effects. To prove it, on finishing the 302nd hole, he ran 100 yards in less than 11 seconds. Then he put on a strength demonstration, bending a steel bar with his teeth, tearing a tobacco can in half and driving a 20-penny spike through an inch board with his bare hands.

"Chief" Coy is an all-round athlete, excelling in wrestling, running, jumping and boxing. In March, 1930, he played pocket billiards 120 hours 17 minutes, without stopping.

C. U. GRIDMEN IN INITIAL WORKOUT

Bergman Puts Cardinals Through 2 Long Drills.

FOOTBALL training got under way at Catholic University Stadium yesterday, featuring new players and coaches under supervision of Dutch Bergman, chief of staff.

With big Tom Nally, of Washington and Phil Gross, of Minneapolis, topping the class in weight, a likely looking bunch of sophomores joined hands with holdover veterans to make the first day's workouts (there were two of them despite the burning sun) examples of the acme in pep and vigor.

Of course, the photographers were on hand trying out new poses and testing human patience at a time when the bronzed athletes were mindful only of impressing in a football manner.

As Bergman boomed directions the 32 varsity candidates and 3 freshmen underwent an intensive period of calisthenics, passing and punting, catching, blocking and tackling and plain ordinary running.

Today they begin at 9:30 a. m., continuing for two hours before a recess for lunch. The afternoon schedule is from 2 to 5:30 o'clock.

Nally and Gross, both tipping the scales above the 200 mark, bid fair to gain regular berths as tackles. Both looked yesterday to be in prime condition physically. Other promising newcomers present were John Jankowski, a back, and Jimmy Lyons, a guard.

Assisting Bergman with the coaching were George Vik, in charge of the end candidates, and Forrest Cotton, supervisor of guards, centers and tackles. This pair are starting their careers at the Brookland institution, having been signed a few months ago. Like Bergman, they are exponents of the Notre Dame system.

Bergman received pleasant news from Nick Monaco, regular 1930 guard, that contrary to expectations, he would return to school.

Postoffice Winner, 1-0, In Colored Series

Postoffice, on the strength of two hits and airtight pitching on the part of Barnes, won the opening game of the series with Public Buildings and Public Parks yesterday, 1-0. Barnes fanned nine men along the route, while Wheeler, losing pitcher, was causing four winning batters to fan in desperation.

Only one hit caromed off the services of Barnes during the game, that being contributed by Lee. Temple and Malloy garnered the two hits proffered by the winners, Malloy's being a double and Temple's the opening gesture for the scoring, by him of the lone run of the day.

The two teams meet again today, with Postoffice pitching Reed and yesterday's losing team relying on Beverly.

BOSTON TRIP IS MADE BY SCHWARTZ

Alexandria's Heavyweight Boxer Invited by Carroll.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 1.—Billy Schwartz, Alexandria's pride, tomorrow morning will leave for Boston, Mass., to enter Dan Carroll's stable. He will be accompanied on the trip by Marty Gallagher, Washington's leading heavyweight, who fights for Carroll.

Schwartz expects to be in Boston for over a month and will take part in numerous bouts while in that section. The great work of the bakerboy on the Fort Washington cards earned him the "break" in fast company.

Early this spring Schwartz was a member of Maxie Bear's stable in New York and went through six weeks' training with the Coast fighter. He has also fought in Madison Square Garden.

Schwartz has won 26 victories and lost 2. He holds a decision over Joe Knight, rated as the best heavyweight in the South.

Frankie Mann, Washington's leading fistic promoter, placed Schwartz with Dan Carroll. The Alexandria boy is managed by Mann and has made his great record under his tutelage.

Charlie Corbett's St. Mary's Celtics will face one of their biggest tests of the season Sunday, when they mix with the Saks Clothiers, champions of the Capital City League, in Baggett's Stadium.

Terms for this game were completed by Corbett today.

HOLLYWOOD GIRLS BOW BY 10-6

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

THE Hollywood Movie Stars Girls base ball team made an unsuccessful invasion of this city yesterday, losing to the strong Pullman Athletic Club by a score of 10 to 6 before a crowd of 500 fans at Griffith Stadium. The Girls gave their more experienced opponents a battle, losing out only because of their inability to solve the offerings of "Babe" Clapper, who pitched like he was playing a major league club.

The Girls scored two runs in the second and one in the third to assume a brief lead over Pullman. For the next four innings the Hollywood aggregation went scoreless, although on several occasions they had players on base but were unable to deliver the final punch to bring them in. Pullman matched the Actresses run for run in the first three innings and went out in front with rallies in the third and sixth frames.

Peggy O'Neill Stars In Field.

The features of the game were Peggy O'Neill's fielding in center field, and the playing of "Hot" Blood at third for the Girls. Peggy turned in three difficult running catches, while Miss Blood's play at the hot corner was all that could be desired. On one occasion she trapped Roberts off base when he inadvertently stepped off the bag thinking the pitcher had the ball.

Evelyn Lynch, the local girl who received a tryout with the team, made good in a big way, retiring "Huck" Stahl, Roberts and Radtke on strikes. The band from the National Training School enlivened the proceedings with several snappy military marches.

HUNT PLAYS COHN TODAY IN WARDMAN JUNIOR TOURNEY

Barclay and Wallace to Oppose

Hunt Downs Wills, 6-2, 6-0; Cohn Impresses.

JAY COHN'S blistering drives and serves smoothed his way into the the semifinal round of the Wardman Park Hotel invitation junior tennis tournament yesterday, where he was subsequently joined by the three remaining seeded players, Don Wallace, Henry Barclay and Gilbert Hunt.

Cohn, national boys champion, 1929 and 1930, swept over Clyde Smith, local playground champion, with the completeness of a great tent, running the yellow-sweatered local youth relentlessly, and frequently hitting the ball so hard that Smith could not raise a racquet in defense.

Wallace, New Jersey and Metropolitan junior champion, scored two easy wins to enter the round of four yesterday, beating Tyrell in the morning and Perkins in the afternoon. Barclay, Baltimore's southpaw State junior titleholder, was pressed to the limit in disposing of Bob Smith, of St. John's, 3—6, 6—3, 6—3. It was the only extra set match of the day.

Hunt Wins in Two Sets.

Gilbert Hunt, local and Middle Atlantic boys champion, played some of the best tennis of his still immature life yesterday when he trounced Ricky Willis to the tune of 6—2, 6—0, stumping his foe with an assortment of drives and volleys that knew no answer.

Hunt, sole remaining local hope, faces Cohn today in the upper half semifinal match, in a tussle which promises to develop some of the greatest tennis of the season in Washington. Confident, hard-hitters both, Cohn and Hunt realize that the winner of this match is, potentially, the winner of the championship.

The doubles opened yesterday with nothing in the way of an upheaval of form. Cohn and Wallace, paired, won easily, as did the only other seeded team, Hunt and Clyde Smith.

TENNIS STARS POSE WITH PRESIDENT HOOVER

of Lehman on the last two holes. Yates dubbed his third shot to the home green into a trap and took a six to spoil his prospect of leadership. Seaver missed an 18-inch putt on the seventeenth and then had to hole a tricky putt on the home green to gain so much as a tie.

Moreland Misses Short Putt.

Moreland, like Seaver, missed a putt of barely 2 feet on the seventeenth and then put his second into a trap on the eighteenth, finishing 4—6, two over par. His 36-hole tally of 173—76—149 put the youthfu Texan, in his national tournament debut, in fourth place, tied with Samuel M. Parks, jr., of Pittsburgh, who posted a consistent 75—74—149.

These five performers were the only ones to break 150 for the medal test. All are newcomers to such distinction, although Yates and Lehman have tournament records of considerable experience and distinction. Two, Parks and Moreland, qualified in the national championship for the first, Seaver for only the second time.

Yates, the veteran of the group at 35, a former Yale and Princeton football tackle and a terrific slugger despite the fact he uses lightweight clubs, qualified for the first time since 1928. That year the Rochester giant bowled over George Von Elm in the first round. He has held the North and South title. Lehman was Western amateur champion in 1930. Seaver was a semifinalist in the national championship at Merion last year.

Lehman, Seaver and Yates created the first triple tie for the medal since 1919 when Jimmy Manion, Davison Herron and Paul Tewksbury were deadlocked at Oakmont. The only other three-cornered ties of the qualifying score were in 1902 and 1909. This year's leading score, 148, is the highest since 1923.

Sixth place was occupied by Johnny Shields, Seattle's lone contender, with 75—76—151, while Ouimet, at 152, was tied for seventh place by a fellow New Englander, Charles Clare, of New Haven, who posted rounds of 75 and 77.

McCarthy Has Close Call.

There were a number of close calls, especially for two of the younger group of favorites, Johnny Goodman, of Omaha, and Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., of New York. Goodman, who apparently was out of harm's reach with a first round 74, blew himself to an erratic 82 in the second round for a total of 156, one stroke from danger. Johnny sank a 10-foot putt on the last green to save himself a lot of worry. McCarthy added an 80 to his 76 for another close shave total of 156.

Fourteen players tied at 157, the qualifying limit, and waged a dramatic battle in two sections for the five available places in the charmed circle of 32. It was dark when the issue was finally decided on the third extra hole.

The five survivors of this prolonged overtime tussle were Denmar Miller, of Des Moines; Fay Coleman, of Los Angeles; Carey Bellew, of Kansas City; Owen Corey, of Salt Lake City, and J. Wolcott Brown, of Spring Lake, N. J.

Coleman qualified with a birdie 4 on the 545-yard second hole after six were eliminated on the first hole. The others qualified at the third. Miller landed a place after saving himself with a sensational pitch for his four at the first hole.

Leonard Martin and Eddie Driggs, present and former Metropolitan champions, respectively, went out on the first hole. Frank Dolp, of Portland, Oreg., twice former Western amateur champion, saved himself with a fine recovery on the first hole, after a wild hook off the tee, but was eliminated through a poor approach at the second.

Grimes, of Denver, took three putts and passed out with Dolp.

D. C. Junior Golf Play At Manor Club Today

The junior golf champion of Washington will be named late today when the cream of the local golfing youths wage their annual battle for the title over the course of Manor Country Club beginning this morning.

Thirty-six holes of medal play makes up the day's activities. In addition to the entries already published in The Post, the names of J. Munro Hunter, jr., H. N. Graves, jr., Robert Brownell and Robert Hird were added yesterday. Hunter placed third in the 1930 event.

SHORES BOWS TO LATONA FOR TITLE

SEEDED No. 6 in the draw, and not seriously considered as a singles player, Anthony Latona, Western High all-around athlete, yesterday won the singles championship of the Capital City Tennis League, downing Frank Shore, heavily backed favorite, 10—8, 6—2, 4—6, 6—0. Latona, whose only successes have been in playground competition, gains a leg on the giant Deck Trophy.

More than matching his touted foe from the back court, and actually superseding him at the net position, Latona marched ahead to victory with few detours. Shore took the third set by the barest of margins, but rallied to shatter the confidence of the eventual winner, or materially aid his own cause.

Latona Finally Turns Tables.

It was Latona's first victory over Shore, who beat yesterday's winner the quarter-final round of the D. C. several times last season and also in senior championship this year at Columbia, 6—2, 6—3. But it appeared yesterday that Shore was the regular loser and Latona the chronic winner, so confident was the new champion on the way to the championship, and so hesitant was Shore to produce his usual pyrotechnics.

The finals of the doubles will be played today at Henry Park at 4 o'clock. The match brings together yesterday's finalists, as a team, and the defending champions, Pat Deck and Bill Seidel.

Steele and De Laun Clash In Mat Feature Tonight

IF any one is going to steal the rassling show tonight away from the headliners, Ray Steele and Don De Laun, it most likely will be George Zaharias, the 230-pound St. Louis Greek, who meets old Milo Steinborn in the semifinal spot at the Griffith Stadium rasslefest.

Zaharias is as rough as the Eleventh street car line, and has been barred in Pennsylvaina for showing marked preference for the sock in the nose instead of the more orthodox head lock. Big, unbelievably strong and not an unhandsome lad, Zaharias looks to be one of the best of the Curley boys.

His tactics are exceptionally noted as crowd rousers. Righteous gullibles in the audience boo him to an echo after every victory, as he walks away from the ring, leaving his once animate opponent making a census of knockout birdies. He appears to have a sound knowledge of all the formal tricks of wrestling, plus the technique of a prize fighter of the pick-'em-up and knock-'em-down period.

Ray Steele should not have great trouble in doing away with Mr. De Laun, the chronic claimant of the "French - Canadian championship." Steele is better in every department of the game, and why the two were matched must go down in history along with the meetings between Carnera and the assorted bolsters and mattresses the Italian has been knocking out.

REPORT TO LITTLE.

New York, Sept. 1 (U.P.).—Football practice started at Columbia University today when 45 players reported to Coach Lou Little. The coach predicted a team which would not be a "world beater," but would have an "even chance to win each of its games."

Filipino Semifinals Gained by Tomelden

Art Tomelden gained the semifinal round of the Filipino tennis tournament yesterday by defeating Domingo, 6—1, 6—4, in a match which had been postponed from Monday. It was the only singles encounter of the day, the rest of the activities being consumed by doubles.

Play today in the tournament will continue at 5 o'clock at Henry Park and will be confined to doubles.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Singles—Tomelden defeated Domingo, 6—1, 6—4.

Doubles — Tomelden - Zamora defeated Rillon-Domingo, 6—3, 6—4; Diaz-Diaz defeated Pinera-Silva, 6—4, 6—4; Rulloda-Eugenio defeated Butuyan-Sila by default; Yap-Baradi defeated Fonbuena-Flores, 6—3, 6—3.

on the tenth, par 3 when he drove the 173 yards of the course to get on the green in one and sunk a fifteen-footer for a birdie two. He took another on the thirteenth where he was on the green in two to sink a five-foot putt for a birdie three.

The next hole he made in par, but slipped up on the sixteenth, par 4 to take it in five. The last two holes he finished even to come in with a 37.

Tom Bones, of Chevy Chase, Md., came in with an 86, reversing his comparatively very low score yesterday. He was out in 44 having trouble all the way with his putts. He bettered his card on the home stretch by two strokes to come in with a 42. All three men played part of their rounds during a heavy shower.

D. C. NETMEN DRAW HARD MATCHES

Yeomans Plays Gledhill; Sendel to Face Shields.

TWO Washington, D. C., youths, the one a native, the other an adopted son, will represent the Capital in the Golden Anniversary National Singles Championship, which starts Saturday at Forest Hills. Both have drawn foes against whom hope of success is held almost negligible.

Eddie Yeomans, District of Columbia champion, will meet Keith Gledhill, intercollegiate champion, and national clay court doubles titleholder. Frederico Sendel, former Mexican Davis Cup player, who remained in the city after his country's team played America here in 1930, is the other D. C. entrant. That his task will not be an easy one is seen from the fact that he will meet Frank Shields, Davis Cup star, and second seeded domestic player.

Vines Seeded No. 1 In Tourney.

Ellsworth Vines, jr., Pasadena's poker-faced sensation, whose rule over American tennis this year has amounted to a monarchy, will face Herbert Fischer, of Cynwood, Pa., in the first round of play. The 19-year-old youth, who is seeded No. 1, four places ahead of John Doeg, defending champion, is looked upon in all quarters as the potential champion.

Fred Perry, who has dominated European tennis in much the same manner as Vines has ruled this side of the ocean, will experience real competition in the very first round of the tournament when he tackles Julius Selingson, former intercollegiate champion and ranking player. Nor will Wilmen Allison have an easy time with his initial opponent, since he is Berkeley Bell, conqueror of Jean Borotra in the first round of the 1930 tournament.

STOCKS SALES DROP LOWEST IN 7 YEARS

Apathy Marks All Trading With Few Price Changes; Rail Issues Gain.

New York, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—The Stock Market today frankly surrendered to the apathy which has been the chief characteristic of trading throughout most of the summer.

So feeble was the speculative pulse that sales for the five hours totaled only 533,010 shares, the smallest aggregate since October, 1924. Fluctuations were mostly measured in fractions, although railroad issues came to life in the final 15 minutes, returning some fair net gains. Their advance strengthened the quiet steadiness exhibited by leading industrials and utilities and the market as a whole closed about half a point higher on the average.

Professionals seemed content to let matters drift, probably in the belief that little or no trend could be expected to show itself until the Labor Day holiday. There was a batch of more or less unfavorable news, but none of it came as a particular surprise and such items as two receiverships, some bond defaults and an unfavorable August insolvency record passed unnoticed.

Cut in Reichsbank Rate.

The further reduction in the Reichsbank discount rate indicated that Germany is making satisfactory progress through her period of financial convalescence. The rate is now 8 per cent, which is well above those of their principal European central banks; however, the reductions from the emergency peak mean that a large measure of confidence has been restored. Further light on the German position will be available when the Berlin Boerse reopens later this week after two months of idleness.

The advance in the railroad shares preceded announcement that freight loadings for the week ended August 22 had risen about 6,000 cars. Although it was the second successive weekly increase, the gain was not only less than seasonal but also smaller than had been expected. Rail bonds hardened with stocks toward the close, reversing their earlier trend.

"American Metal Market" reported a recession in steel production during the past week, placing the average at 29 per cent, a drop of 3 points, and said demand in that period had been the lightest of the depression. Ingot output in August was at about 32 per cent compared with 34 per cent for July, which recalls the hope expressed earlier in the summer, that the month just passed would witness some improvement.

Hope After Labor Day.

However, there may well be an improvement after Labor Day, although some producers feel the autumnal rise will be delayed longer than usual.

Except for the rail group, net advances by prominent shares were insignificant. U. S. Steel, Radio, American Can, General Electric, General Motors and Behtlehem were up ¼ to ⅝ at the finish, while American Telephone, Lambert, Macy, Union Carbide and Loew's squeezed out advances of a point. New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific and Frisco preferred improved 1 to 1⅝, Katy preferred gained 2 and Atchison 3¼. On the other hand, Baltimore & Ohio preferred had an unexplained loss of 5 points. Beechnut Packing was also weak. Purity Bakeries recovered much of yesterday's decline.

Commodities steadied. Wheat, helped by unfavorable northwestern weather and bullish foreign crop news, was up ⅛ to 1 cent higher. An improved cash demand and light contract deliveries aided corn, which closed unchanged to a cent higher. Cotton declined and then rallied, ending the day with nominal losses.

Foreign currencies made narrow changes. The lower discount rate had no effect on the German mark. Sterling, at $4.85 5-32 for cables, was a shade easier.

Curb Review

The total turnover was roughly 150,000 shares, the smallest for a full session in several years with the exception of July 28 last, when transfers approximated 140,000 shares.

In utilities, such leading issues, as Electric Bond & Share and Middle West Utilities were but slightly changed, closing with gains of minor fractions. American Gas & Electric lost nearly a point, and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore sold off 2. North American Light & Power was again a soft spot, breaking 5 points to another new low at 48 in moderate selling.

Triutilities had largely discounted in advance the situation resulting in appointment of a receiver. The stock closed at 1½, off ½. Peoples Light A, a member of the triutilities group, was virtually unaffected, trading at 4, unchanged from the previous close.

In the oils, changes were largely nominal, although Gulf lost a couple of points. Standard of Indiana was unchanged.

In the industrials, Animal Trap Corporation made one of its rare appearances on the tape, selling at a record low price of 3, off more than 11 points from the last transactions. A. O. Smith, which recently had a substantial rise, fell back 6 points. Aluminum Co. of America lost 2.

U. S. Radio and Television, which is expected to be transferred to the big board shortly, gained 4 points. Educational Pictures preferred advanced 5 in an odd lot deal.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 1 (A.P.).—An early decline in cotton was followed by rallies on covering and trade buying today.

December contracts, after selling off to 6.95 early, advanced to 7.19 in the late trading, or 4 points net higher. Reactions of several points occurred in the last few minutes, with December closing at 7.12 and the general market steady at net declines of 3 to 6 points.

The opening was barely steady, 18 to 19 points lower under selling by Liverpool, New Orleans, Wall street and the South. A favorable view of the trade map and weakness in the Liverpool market appeared to be the factors on this decline, and there may have been some selling on expectations that the bad crop weather would lead to an increase in the movement and probably an increase in the hedging. While there was a little Southern selling at the start, it was not large in volume, and prices soon steadied on covering combined with some commission house and trade buying.

The volume of business tapered off as prices steadied up from the lowest, but the market worked gradually higher during the afternoon on continental covering and some local buying which was probably influenced by the steadier tone of stocks and the failure of bearish features to bring in more aggressive pressure. October sold up from 6.75 to 6.96 and March from 7.20 to 7.48, or 2 to 4 points net higher, but lost 5 or 6 points the last few minutes under realizing.

Liverpool cables attributed the decline in that market to hedging combined with continental and Bombay liquidation. Reports from Washington regarding the Farm Board's attitude toward stabilization were not generally discussed as an immediate market factor and later reports concerning the sentiment of Texas farmers as to acreage reduction seemed to be without much effect.

According to a canvas made here today New York Cotton Exchange members are expecting a crop of 15,572,000 bales on the average. Experts today, 41,585 bales, making 237,362 so far this season. Port receipts, 14,041. United States port stocks, 2,714,092.

SEPTEMBER 2, 1906.

The United States Atlantic Fleet was in line in Long Island Sound, off Oyster Bay, for inspection by President Roosevelt. It was to be the greatest American naval review in history. There were 45 ships in formation.

A general strike of building trades was in prospect in Washington as the Master Plumbers' Association failed to name arbitrators in the dispute with the Journeymen Plumbers, as agreed two weeks previously.

Efforts to pull the transport Sheridan off the rocks on the Island of Oahu, Hawaii, were abandoned and the vessel was believed to be a total loss. Those aboard the ship spent last night in total darkness.

The Emperor of China issued an edict promising constitutional government when the people were fitted for it.

4 AIRPORT SOLDIERS END RIFLE RAMPAGE OF MENTAL PATIENT

CONSIDERED MILD CASE BY HOSPITAL ATTACHES

St. Elizabeths Attendants Say He Had Privilege of Leaving Grounds.

With 60 rounds of ammunition and a brand new Winchester repeating rifle, a patient of St. Elizabeths Hospital was on his way, yesterday afternoon, to "kill the tenants" and clean out the hospital, when his homicidal thoughts were changed somewhat for the better by four soldiers who came to the rescue of a taxi driver at whom the patient was pointing his gun.

Upon questioning, the patient, who was identified as Robert March, a retired Army colonel, said that he bought the gun at a place which he remembered only as "somewhere on D street." Immediatey after making his purchase, he said, he entered a taxi and told the driver, William P. Topping, to take him to Bolling Field.

Pushed Rifle in His Face.

Upon arrival at one of the gates to the air station, Topping said, his fare suddenly pushed the rifle into his face and said: "We've gone far enough."

Topping said he yelled for help and four soldiers who were standing nearby rushed over and overpowered the patient.

Police were notified and two officers and a patrol wagon from the Eleventh Precinct conducted the colonel to the station house after relieving the soldiers. However, when the guardians of the law arrived on the scene, the patient was much calmer than he was when he made his dramatic appearance a short time before.

Planned to "Sneak in."

The two policemen, George Greenip and C. H. Tucker questioned the man as to why he got out of his cab at Bolling Field if he was bound for the hospital and he replied that he intended to "sneak down the railroad tracks and come in the hospital from the rear, because the guards would take his gun away if he entered through one of the main gates."

Hospital attendants who arrived later to take the patient away said that the man had been at the institution about two years and was a parole patient with freedom to leave the grounds in the daytime.

Autopsy Ordered In Gas-Fume Death

Certificate of Suicide Is Held Up Pending Investigation.

Puzzled by the circumstances leading up to his death of Edward H. Chambers, 33-year-old purchasing agent for the Washington Times Co., who was found lifeless in the kitchen of his home last night, Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt today will perform an autopsy. Gas was pouring from every jet in the range and all windows and the door were tightly shut.

Chambers was last seen alive when he left his office yesterday noon. Presumably he went immediately to the house at 2934 Glover drive, where he boarded with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dexter. Shortly after 8 o'clock Miss Janet Stanfield, aunt of Mr. Dexter, found Chambers' outstretched body on the kitchen floor and summoned the rescue squad. Efforts to revive the man failed.

Told by Mr. Dexter that the victim had been in good health and spirits and had no apparent reason to end his life, Coroner Nevitt withheld issuance of a suicide certificate pending the autopsy. Chambers was not married. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Chambers, were notified in New York.

Woman Is Slain; Man Confesses

Victim and Accused Were to Answer Rum Count on Fatal Day.

Mrs. Grace R. Janney, colored, 31-year-old grandmother, was fatally shot early yesterday morning in her home, 1840 Corcoran street northwest, by William Henry Frazier, colored, 30, of 1811 Capital avenue, Ivy City.

Shortly after he committed the act Frazier confessed at the Twelfth Precinct Station that he had fired in self-defense. Both Frazier and the woman were to have appeared in Police Court yesterday on charges of possessing liquor.

Taft Bridge Parkway Action Is Postponed

The District Commission yesterday postponed action on the proposal to eliminate or reduce the size of the parkway at the south end of the William Howard Taft Bridge because of a request from Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Mr. Delano wrote the commissioners and asked that action in the matter be delayed until the Park and Planning Commission, which recently proposed to eliminate the parkway, could make a further study of the matter. Several protests have been received from residents of the neighborhood. The Park and Planning Commission will meet again on September 24.

CAUSE IS NOT FIXED OF GASEOUS FUMES

Cause of the fumes, which apparently came out of nowhere Monday night, to sicken many residents of Southeast and Southwest Washington had not been determined yesterday.

District authorities, after an investigation, were satisfied, they said, that they were not caused by the sewer system, and officials of the Washington Gas Light Co., were as strongly convinced that gas was not to blame. No leaks were found in gas pipes and purifiers had been cleaned recently, they stated.

Gas company officials admitted that there was no way of proving that the odors were not gas fumes, but they were positive, they said, that if gas was the cause it was not from the local system.

Traffic Director's Estimates Halved

$111,341 Asked by Van Duzer Cut to $50,000 by Commissioners.

The original 1933 estimates of Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer were slashed almost 60 per cent yesterday by the District Commissioners.

While the new traffic chief had asked $111,341 to install signal lights at 54 intersections and modernize present signals at 77 intersections, the Commissioners cut this item down to approximately $50,000.

Of this amount $20,000 will be used for maintenance of the signal system. Most of the remainder will be devoted, it is understood, to modernizing the present light systems.

Mrs. Grace Pulver Wins Divorce Decree in Reno

Mrs. Grace Waggaman Pulver, prominent Capital society matron, yesterday was granted a divorce in Reno from her husband, George M. Pulver, according to press dispatches. Extreme mental cruelty was charged by Mrs. Pulver in her suit.

The Pulvers were married about six years ago in a sensational double elopement. The former Lila Roosevelt and James Lee, local newspaperman, were the other couple married at the dual wedding, and who have since been divorced. Upon the separation of the former couple about a year ago, Mr. Pulver took up his residence at the Racquet Club. Mrs. Pulver is the daughter of Mrs. Alexander Legare, 1737 N street northwest.

'All About the Police!' And Then He Found Out

Crying "Police scandal, read about it!" William H. Minor, 21, of 3145 Mount Pleasant street northwest, started out last night to sell his evening load of papers.

But when he reached 809 Longfellow street he awakened Policeman W. D. Perry, who, although off duty, hurriedly dressed and took Minor to the Thirteenth Precinct station, where he was charged with making unnecessary noise after 8 p. m.

Minor borrowed $1.15 from the station clerk, M. F. Collins, posted $5 collateral and went out to sell some more papers, while Policeman Perry, whose tour of duty was to start at midnight, went back to bed.

Policeman Facing Trial as Intruder

Inspector to Recommend Charges Be Preferred on Visit to A. P.

Inspector S. F. W. Burke, chief of the Detective Bureau, yesterday announced he had recommended that charges be preferred against Policeman Thomas D. Atkinson, of the Eleventh Precinct, who was found early Monday morning unwarrantedly using the facilities of the Associated Press photographic workroom.

Atkinson was found by one of the A. P. correspondents, and when asked what he was doing said that he was developing some plates and had permission to use the A. P. workroom. He refused to name the person who gave him permission and an argument followed, which culminated with the arrival of two detectives who had been summoned.

Inspector Burke said that the policeman was supposed to be on sick leave when he was found in the Associated Press offices, and that the entire matter would be thrashed out before the Police Trial Board, probably next Wednesday.

CONSTRUCTION WAGE ISSUE GOES TO DOAK

Commissioners Shift Problem to Secretary; First of New Contracts Let.

The problem of determining in the final analysis what shall be the prevailing wages in the District as regards construction contracts awarded by the District government was shifted to Secretary of Labor Doak yesterday by the Commissioners.

The Secretary of Labor had already halted the District plan to incorporate a minimum wage scale, equal to the wages paid in the District repair shop, in its contracts. Corporation Counsel William W. Bride had backed him by declaring the proposal illegal.

Hence all municipal contracts will now carry the provision that the Bacon-Davis prevailing wage law must be obeyed. Msj. H. L. Robb, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, is authorized at any time to require a wage scale of any contractor. If he and the contractor are unable to reach an agreement, the matter will be referred to Secretary Doak.

Likewise any labor union or an employe on the job will have the right to register a complaint against the wage paid by a contract on a District project.

Should the contractors choose to question the constitutionality of this law, however, District construction projects may be tied up in litigation. It was to avoid such a condition that the minimum wage scale proposal was evolved.

The first contract under this new arrangement was let yesterday to A. Lloyd Goode, Inc., of Charlotte, N. C., on his bid of $147,175 for construction of a ten-room addition to the Paul Junior High School.

Trench Digging Machine Cuts Telephone Cable

Telephone service over some 200 lines in the Conduit road section of Washington was interrupted yesterday morning when a trench digging machine operating near Chain Bridge road and Indian lane dug into a phone cable carrying 400 telephone lines.

An emergency crew of splicers and construction men was dispatched to the scene by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. Lines serving 150 of the phones pass through a branch cable, which was severed by the machine. Before nightfall all had been restored to service.

CHAMBER DIRECTORS FAVOR RECIPROCITY ON TRUCK LICENSES

GOVERNOR CONSIDERS REPEAL OR REVISION

Reiterating its opposition to any plan to alter the reciprocity laws which enable Virginia trucks to operate in the District of Columbia without paying extra fees, and vice versa, the board of directors of the Washington Chamber of Commerce last night authorized its transportation committee to cooperate with the Virginia Motor Truck Owners Association to support retention of the plan.

This action followed the appointment by Gov. Pollard of Virginia of a commission to study the existing reciprocity law, with the purpose of revising or repealing it. Elimination of the Washington-Virginia agreement would cost commercial truck operators on either side of the Potomac thousands of dollars annually in extra license and taxation fees, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

The board indorsed the fight being waged by the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington and Arlington & Fairfax electric railroads to have their tracks and new downtown terminal situated north of Pennsylvania avenue, in the congested district. The old station at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue will be torn down in the Federal building program.

A few weeks ago the executive committee approved the transportation committee's report recommending that the chamber go on record in favor of a central location for the terminal.

Plans for celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the chamber's founding next year were discussed at last night's meeting. Arrangements will be made in conjunction with the George Washington Bicentennial Committee under the chairmanship of Thomas P. Littlepage.

Citizenship Right Revocation Asked

Irishman, Who Returned to His Native Land in 1909, Named.

An Irishman who was naturalized here in 1901 and who eight years later returned to his native land, where he has remained ever since, will be denied citizenship rights gained then, the State Department indicated yesterday, when a formal court order was sought to revoke his citizenship.

The court was informed that the Irishman, James J. Long, moved back to County Kerry, Ireland, and had had nine children since then. He is now a prosperous grocer and is accepting the duties of an Irish citizen by voting in the elections over there.

The District Supreme Court was asked to revoke his papers.

MUSICIAN PEDALS TO REDUCE

En route from her home in Boston to Savannah, Ga., by bicycle, 21-year-old D'Zama Murielle, pictured above, stopped in Washington yesterday to visit friends. She is making the trip to reduce weight. An accomplished musician and leader, Miss Murielle has conducted bands and orchestras in several cities where she has stopped, the proceeds going to charity.

Housewives Will Hold First Meeting Tomorrow, With Demonstration Soon.

The first meeting of the committee of house wives to form the food conservation committee for the preservation of surplus food for use of the unemployed next winter, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Franklin School.

A practical program of canning and preserving will be outlined to the committee. Four demonstrations of canning and preserving in the Central High School kitchen will be given at 10 o'clock on the mornings of Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Jacobs, director of the domestic science department of the District public schools, will direct the program. On Tuesday Miss Jacobs will conduct the demonstration during which a large quantity of food will be canned.

Radio talk will be given each morning over Station WRC by experts of the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture. Talks will be given by Drs. Florence B. King, Hazel Stiebeling and Mrs. Mabel C. Stienbarger and Miriam Birdseye, experts of the bureau.

A large quantity of peaches and sugar for use in preserving has been received by the committee. The committee also is seeking large glass jars and rubber rings for use in preserving. The committee on employment, whose offices are in the District Building, will call for any donations.

Police Hunt 2 Bandits Who Forced Auto Ride

Baltimore police were asked yesterday to aid in a search for two armed bandits who commandeered the auto of Joseph D. West, 1519 Gales street northeast, while he was waiting for a green light at Maryland avenue and Seventh street northeast, late Monday night.

The two men forced West to drive them to Baltimore, holding a revolver on him during the entire drive. When they reached the other side of the city on Belair road the men got out and demanded West's money. West told police that when he showed the men all the money he had, 75 cents, they told him to keep it to buy gas with.

Runaway Auto Spreads Havoc.

Rolling free when its brake was released, an auto coasted down hill and leveled a light pole and damaged two parked machines early yesterday before coming to a stop against the curb. Fred Haas, in front of whose home at 3740 Ninth street northwest the car was parked, expressed the opinion the mishaps were caused by some one attempting to steal the car.

FARM TO GO FIRST IN RHEEM WIND-UP

$19,000 Bid Rejected for Maryland Tract; Bank Sues Over Note.

First step in the liquidation of the bankrupt company of Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey is expected to be the sale by auction of the Swart farm, according to an announcement yesterday by Fred J. Eden, referee.

The farm, covering 175 acres, is between Four Corners and Wheaton, Md., and has been appraised at $30,450. Bids of $18,000 and $19,000 have been made for the property and rejected. The auction will be held within the next ten days.

Offers made for three small pieces of property in the Northeast section have been approved by the creditors, while a bid on a fourth piece has been rejected. Trustees of the estate will apply to the District Supreme Court for permission to sell the property on the receipt of certification by the referee.

A suit was filed yesterday against Edmund D. Rheem, former head of the company, by the District National Bank, for the balance of $9,210 due on a note for $20,000. The note, indorsed by Rheem in December, 1930, was to run for 30 days. In pointing out that the balance is long overdue, the bank stated the wish to make Rheem personally responsible for the unpaid sum. The suit gave Rheem's address as Lorton, Va., where he is serving the first year of a seven-year sentence for diverting assets of the company.

Chief Quartermaster Thomas' Body Found

A four-day search in the waters of the Potomac River for Carroll H. Thomas, chief quartermaster on the U. S. S. Choctaw, was ended yesterday when the man's body was found floating near Piney Point, in the river.

Thomas, who was 37, disappeared Saturday from the Choctaw, which is a Navy tug. His death is being investigated by two naval boards. He was a native of Lucerne, Ind., although his widow, Mrs. Gladys Thomas, and his two children, Evelyn, 9, and Carroll, jr., 5, now live in Boston, Mass. Thomas was stationed here in connection with radio experiments being conducted by the Naval Research Laboratory at Bellevue.

Two Detectives Shifted.

Two policemen were shifted to new duties yesterday by order of the District Commissioners. They are Frank O. Brass, formerly precinct detective at the Third Precinct, who was sent to Headquarters to take over general assignments; and Michael J. Mahaney, precinct detective at the Second Precinct, who will start his new duties as a member of the police vice squad.

DISTRICT'S MODEL AIRCRAFT CONTEST MARRED BY WINDS

AT LEAST 30 ENTRIES CRASH DURING TESTS

High Mark for Day Set When One Ship Stays Aloft for More Than 9 Minutes.

Competition for the championships of the District of Columbia Model Aircraft League was resumed yesterday with three events at Bolling Field, but due to the high wind at the airport all morning causing numerous "fatal crashes," in which at least thirty of the planes were wrecked. The performances recorded will not stand as final and the embryo aviators will be given another chance to better yesterday's marks today.

Three of the aces of the model builders were able to take advantage of the winds, however, and achieved flights which approached records. Edward Grannis, 1615 Kennedy street northwest, who is making a strong bid for the champion's crown of the ace class now held by Frank Salisbury, 1024 Vermont avenue northwest, put a ship into the air which, when last seen through field glasses, was disappearing over the hangars of the Naval Air Station, half a mile away from the starting point, and had remained aloft seven minutes, eight and four-fifths seconds.

Not to be outdone by his rival, Salisbury launched a flying model into a particularly heavy wind and it, too, soared to unknown ports, dropping out of sight over the seaplane hangar. It had been up six minutes and fifty seconds when last seen.

Nine Minutes Up, Disappears.

The best flight of the day, however, was made by Blair Bennett, 1410 M street northwest, who, until his fine showing yesterday, had not been classified as an ace. His little ship stayed in the air exactly nine minutes and, like the others, was still flying far in the distance when it was lost to the sharpest eyes.

In the dynamic class, which includes models powered by motors other than rubber bands, and including springs, compressed air and electrically propelled ships, Jack Parke turned in the best flight, his time being twelve and one-fifth seconds. This is only two and four-fifths seconds short of the present record in this class held by Salisbury.

The seaplane competition was wiped entirely off the records when the only plane getting into the air was disqualified because its pilot had given it a slight shove at the take-off. All competitors in this class will try again tomorrow, and it is believed that with less wind numerous ships should be able to get off the improvised seaplane basin and register good flights.

Witnessed by Davidson.

Among the spectators who turned out to see the model air show was Maj. H. C. Davidson, commanding officer of Bolling Field, accompanied by several officers of his staff. Lieut. Robert Givanioli, of Bolling, served as a judge together with Lieut. T. J. Hedding, of the Naval Air Station.

Other judges and officials included Miss Sybil Baker, supervisor of the Municipal Playground Department; Mrs. E. K. Peeples, director of the Community Center; W. S. Griest, Harry Helme, H. H. Cleary, Maj. Harry Horton.

Today's program, which will get under way at 9 o'clock at Bolling Field, calls for competition in the glider, helicopter and rising off ground classes, with the unfinished portion of yesterday's schedule. In the event of rain the flights will be postponed until tomorrow.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE NAVY'S TYPEWRITER RIBBONS.

("In the interests of economy Secretary of the Navy Adams has issued orders that no new typewriter ribbons be issued to Navy Department personnel. Old ribbons must be reinked. It is hoped a saving of $800 a year will result."—News item.)

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Adams:

The heart of every rigid economist beats a little stronger, I am sure, after reading of your decision to adopt for the United States Navy the slogan, "Longer lives for typewriter ribbons!"

* * * *

I understand that the way the Navy Department has been squandering typewriter ribbons is scandalous. Reports that naval workers think nothing of putting in a new ribbon the minute the ink on the old one gets dim have long been current in Washington. This may have been excusable in boom times, but it has remained for you to put a stop to this wild extravagance and bring to the public mind a realization of what could be saved each fiscal year if every man, woman and child would have his of her typewriter ribbons reconditions and reserviced instead of spending 50 cents for a new one every year or so.

* * * *

A lot of people will say that $800 a year isn't much for the Navy to save in typewriter ribbons, but that much money put away at compound interest for two or three hundred years would build a battleship. In time the United States could have a fleet representing the money saved by reinking typewriter ribbons. It could be called the Old Ribbons Flotilla.

* * * *

I HOPE the War Department and all the other Washington bureaus will follow your lead, particularly in the State Department. If the Navy Department can save $800 a year by reinking ribbons surely the State Department, which consumes several hundred miles of ribbons a day, could save many times that sum. I suppose that after a stenographer has typed some of those hot State Department ultimatums the ribbon is pretty well tattered and torn, but there is no reason why it should not be patched, mended and made to serve in another crisis.

* * * *

Writing notes on both sides of the paper is a good thing in times like these, too, and have you ever thought of sending short lead pencils out to be spliced? A lot of money can be saved also by having rubber erasers retipped, blotters resurfaced and cracked blue pots vulcanized. There is a company, too, that will now take old and battered drinking cups out of waste baskets, reshape them and make them as good as new.

Well, anyhow it gives me new faith in the United States Navy when I realize its attitude toward typewriter ribbons and I feel that the republic is safe. Sincerely,

Police Lose 'Peeping Tom' After Potomac Park Chase

Four policemen of the Third Precinct lost their vampers last night—to say nothing of their wind and a colored man they were attempting to capture.

It all began when James O. Mathis, of 2115 C street northwest, called police and said there was a suspicious looking colored man loitering in an alley near a window of his apartment.

Without waiting for police to arrive, however, Mr. Mathis seized his revolver and went into the alley to investigate. Mrs. Mathis went to the front of the apartment, and when four policemen drew up, informed them that her husband had the "peeping Tom" cornered in the alley.

Hurrying to the scene, the policemen found a colored man crouching near a high fence. Standing nearby, revolver in hand, was Mr. Mathis. One look at the group convinced the intruder that it was no place for him.

With one leap he vaulted the 10-foot fence, and took to his heels. The policemen and Mr. Mathis were not far behind. The chase led deep into Potomac Park, from which, fifteen minutes later, the policemen and Mr. Mathis returned empty-handed, breathless and very much put out.

Mr. Mathis, several weeks ago, fired two shots at a burglar who entered a neighbor's apartment, but on that occasion the intruder also escaped.
